NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—President Roosevelt arrived aboard his special train here shortly after 10 a. m. today and boarded an automobile for the trip through the Holland Tube to Jersey City where he will take part in dedication of a medical center building today.

International News Service Staff Correspondent

ABOARD PRESIDENTIAL SPECIAL, Enroute To New York, Oct. 2.—President Roosevelt today moved from the Pittsburgh ball park where he presented a colorful defense of the new deal's financial policies toward the New York Polo Grounds where no speeches but merely the diversion of watching the second game of the world series awaited him.

The privilege of being just another fan, however, will constitute only a breathing spell in another busy day of campaigning.

Has Busy Day

Arriving in New York about ten a. m., Mr. Roosevelt was to motor immediately through the Holland Tunnel to Jersey City, to participate in the dedication of a new medical center.

Following the ball game the president will take part in ground breaking ceremonies for the projected Queens-Midtown tunnel before leaving New York for Hyde Park and a week-end of rest.

Using timely baseball phrases President Roosevelt told 50,000 Pennsylvania Democrats packed into Forbes Field at Pittsburgh last night that the goose eggs of the deficit his administration had run

AL SMITH PUBLICLY SUPPORTS LANDON

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 2—Alfred E. Smith, former Democratic presidential candidate and once a political ally of President Roosevelt, was squarely on record today in support of the presidential candidacy of Governor Alfred M. Landon.

That the president and Smith had come to the parting of the political ways had been well-known, but this was the first time that the former governor of New York state had publicly endorsed the Republican candidate for the presidency, and declared his intention to campaign for him.

Denounces New Deal

Speaking before an audience of 3,000 at Carnegie Hall here, Smith denounced the new deal as a "dark and dismal failure" and asserted that the election of Governor Landon to the White House "is the remedy for all the ills we are suffering from today."

Smith's speech was broadcast by radio, following immediately upon President Roosevelt's speech from Pittsburgh.

In endorsing Landon, Smith declared that he did so "not as a party man, but as an American."

"If the Democratic party," he said "had lived up to its program of pledges made in 1932 and if President Roosevelt had kept his own

Definite Trend Back To Religion Is Seen By Presbyterian Head

Moderator Of Presbyterian Church Is Visitor In City Today

To Make Address At Meeting Here This Evening —Discusses Conditions

In the opinion of Dr. Henry B. Master, moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian church in the United States, there is a definite trend back to religion and to spiritual things in this country. Dr. Master is here today for an address to a Men's Fellowship dinner in the First Presbyterian church tonight.

"The change seems to have come about in the past six months," said Mr. Master. "Ministers and laymen alike seem to be actuated by a desire to do the work of Christ, who went about the world doing good. A year ago this feeling was not prevalent but today I can notice it. It may be the forerunner of a nation wide or a world wide revival."

Will Swing Back.

Dr. Master believes that the nations that have abolished the churches will be heading back towards religion in the coming years. "In Russia the nation is spiritually bankrupt," said Dr. Master, "but the day is coming when a return to the principles of religion will be seen. The same is true in other countries. Hitler will pass and who can say what will follow him?"

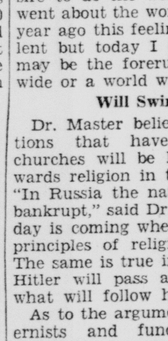

As to the argument between modernists and fundamentalists Dr. Master believes the wave of modernism has passed, that "it is dead". "In Germany," said he, "where the

Alice Longworth Says

(Special To The News)

CINCINNATI, Oct. 2.—Candidate Roosevelt, in a torrent of high-pitched oratory, follows his usual custom of identifying himself with great figures of the past. This time with a half dozen presidents who were misrepresented by a "malicious opposition."

Nobly decrying rancor, the president calls those who disagree with him. desperate, angry, cunning, selfish, lacking in courage and shortsighted.

He erects the straw man of "communistic support" solely for the purpose of knocking it down.

People are more interested to learn what Mr. Roosevelt has to say in answer to the charge that he is turning this country into a collectivist state run by a federal bureaucracy at Washington. In his allusion to meeting "the emergency with emergency action" he forgets that the "emergency" legislation is still on the statute books. As long as it remains there all of Mr. Roosevelt's talk about "safeguarding democracy" has a hollow sound.

Rail Line Scene Of Heavy Battle In Spanish War

Loyalists Seek To Recapture Railway At Siguenza—Many Casualties

REBELS DELAY SIEGE OF MADRID

Report 125,000 Being Massed To Take Part In Siege Of Capital

By THOMAS A. LOAYZA
International News Service Staff Correspondent

MADRID, Oct. 2.—The scene of Spain's most intense fighting swung today to Guadalajara province where, Madrid announced, 200 rebels were slain and 300 deserted to the loyalist side as a powerful leftist army battled to win back the Valencia railway at Siguenza.

Recapture of this line was vital to Madrid, for on the southern front Moors and Foreign Legionnaires fought their way mile after mile towards Castellejo, junction point of the last railroad line connecting Madrid with its food supplies in the loyalist southeast.

The communique announcing the victorious "repulse" of the large scale attack by insurgents in Guadalajara was the government's first confession of the loss of the railway at Siguenza—claimed two days ago in insurgent broadcasts.

Prepare For Siege.

The southern column of Gen. Franco's anti-Madrid column is concentrating on capturing the important town of Aranjuez, where the major loyalist force is gathering to defend the railroad, before beginning the siege of Madrid in earnest.

Speed Up Dirigible In Effort To Aid Race Of Reporters

ABOARD THE DIRIGIBLE HINDENBURG, AT SEA, Oct. 2—Goaded by three jittery world-girdlers, who fear that this big Zeppelin won't arrive at the Frankport landing field in time for us to catch the plane for Rome, Capt. Max Pruss today barked the order to speed up the Hindenburg's four great Diesel motors.

Instantly the smotth baritone of the quartet swelled into a tenor hum and, although as far as I'm concerned the Hindenburg still feels motionless, the speed of the craft hiked up from a paltry 64 miles an hour to 98.

Moreover, Capt. Pruss who is either a very obliging man or can't stand being pestered, kept the airship on a more southerly course than she has usually followed, so we had the advantage of following winds.

At this rate we ought to be in Frankfort sometime early Saturday.

(At 10 a. m. London time (4 a. m. E. S. T.) Mackay radio reported the Hindenburg in mid-Atlantic, about 1300 miles due west of the coast of France, making 100 M. P. H. Her course is swinging more northerly, however and she will probably pass over southern England.)

At 8 a. m. E. D. T. the Hindenburg 29.11 west—two thirds of the way was in latitude 46.39 north, longitude

Crowds Increasing At W. P. A. Exhibition

With the attendance on Thursday night more than double that of Wednesday night, the Works Progress Administration exhibit in the Cathedral attracted a crowd on the second night of its showing. This afternoon and tonight are expected to draw additional crowds and on Saturday the largest crowd of the exhibit should be present.

The models and displays got more attention Thursday night than they did on the opening day. Much of the work shown has real merit. The handcrafts section shows articles manufactured by NYA workers that are surprisingly well done. One display of hand-made tools is attracting much comment. The tools were made by L. M. Mershimer, veteran blacksmith and toolmaker, of East Washington street, and are tiny replicas of tools used in WPA projects.

THOUSANDS SHARE IN BIG MEETINGS

Governor Earle Shares Meeting At Forbes Field With President

By PAUL R. ALLERUP
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 2.—Order returned to Pittsburgh today following an evening of political fervor the like of which the city has seldom, if ever, seen before.

More than 60,000 people were estimated by police and competent observers to have participated actively in the welcomes to President Franklin D. Roosevelt at Forbes Field, and Col. Frank Knox, Republican vice presidential nominee, at nearby Duquesne Garden.

At least 50,000 persons heard Mr. Roosevelt tally the "box score" of his administration at the baseball park. Another 9,000 packed Duquesne Garden, four blocks away, to hear Colonel Knox score "New Deal waste." It was estimated 45,000 administration supporters found their way into Forbes Field, with about 5,000 others crowded outside to hear the talk over a loud speaker system.

Filled To Rafters

At Duquesne Garden, the hall was filled to the rafters, and another 1,000 or 2,000 were unable to gain admittance. A large crowd greeted the Republican vice presidential candidate at the railroad station and unestimated thousands later cheered the president as his motorcade wound its way through the streets.

Gates to the ball park were thrown open at 6 p. m. and 4,100 reserved seats placed upon the field went within half an hour. The more desirable grandstand seats available in "first come, first

CLOSELY GUARD NEW PLANE

Boeing Bomber Ready On Coast

Largest Land Plane Ever Built Is About Complete At Seattle

FIGHTING CRAFT FOR UNCLE SAM

(International News Service)

SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 2.—Hailed as the world's largest land plane and the most formidable fighting aircraft ever built, the first of the 13 new Boeing bombers being built here for the U. S. Army was carefully guarded from all observers today after being wheeled out of the plant.

While practically all details of construction are closely guarded secrets it was learned the plane weighs approximately 16 tons; has a wing spread of 105 feet; is powered by four 1,000 horsepower motors and can carry 2,000 pounds of high explosives in addition to machine guns, crew, gasoline and oil.

Just what defensive armament the plane carries could not be definitely learned but it was said that enough guns are provided, and so mounted that it will be impossible for an attacking plane to approach from any direction without coming into full range.

The planes, it was said, will be capable of aiding "in the defense of Alaska, Panama, or Hawaii, flying non-stop from any spot on the Pacific coast." The big bombers are capable of making a flight of at least 1500 miles without landing or refueling and return to their base.

promises, I would not be speaking from this platform. But I am an American before I am a Democrat—or a Republican either."

In attacking the president, Smith said that "one of the chief characteristics of the new deal is to heap abuse on anyone disagreeing with it—a tendency dangerous to Democracy."

Breeds Class Hatred

"Unless you are ready," Smith continued, "to subscribe to the new deal 100 per cent you are a tory, a reactionary, an economic royalist, XXXXX that tends to breed class hatred, to setup one class against another. It is not a healthy thing here in this country, and every real Democrat will do everything he can to escape it.

Smith drew a contrast between President Roosevelt's "good neighbor" speech in Florida in which the president advocated a spirit of brotherly love toward all citizens to the president's last report to congress on the state of the union.

Addressing congress, Smith recalled, the president spoke of "hatred of entrenched greed," "unscrupulous money changers," and told congress it must be ready for "increasing warfare."

"There's neighborly spirit for you," said Smith.

Not Democratic

Continuing his attack upon the new deal as a political organization, Smith said: "This is not a Democratic administration. It's own people never refer to it as such. They call it the new deal, and you do not hear of Democratic policies, but only of Roosevelt policies.

"The new deal does not even support Democratic candidates in primary and general elections. Those who choose to call themselves progressives, receive the strength and power of the so-called Democratic administration.

which collided with Stucki's car, and that she had no driver's card or learner's permit.

It was at first believed that Williams had been driving, but on being questioned by the highway patrol officer, he admitted that Mrs. Williams had been driving. Coroner Potter plans to conduct an inquest in the case as soon as Mr. and Mrs. Williams are able to leave the hospital.

In the meantime, Highway patrolman D. L. Holmes, stated that charges will be preferred against Mrs. Williams before Squire A. M. Kimmell, of Hickory township, charging Mrs. Williams with operating a motor vehicle without a license.

Mrs. Williams' condition was still serious today, and she had a poor night, Jameson hospital authorities stated. The children, who are in the New Castle hospital, had a fair night it is said.

The body of Mr. Stucki was taken back to Canton, O., last night, his wife, son, and a sister-in-law having arrived here late in the afternoon, unaware that he was dead, and it was not until they reached the hospital that they learned of his death.

up were responsible for sorely needed dollars of national income now reposing in the American citizen's pockets.

He scanned the "box score" of "our fight to beat down the depression and win recovery" and announced that "from where I stand it looks as though the game is pretty well in the bag."

Defends Deficits

Sandwiched in between Al Smith and Col. Frank Knox on the radio and not knowing precisely what angle of attack either were going to make on his leadership, the president confined his entire speech to an argument that by running up "a net deficit of eight billion dollars" since March 4, 1933, he had increased national income thirty-eight billions to "well over sixty billions this year."

He assailed "this foolish fear about the crushing load the debt will impose upon your children and mine," asserting "it is going to be paid out of an increased national income and increased individual income produced by increasing national prosperity."

Hopes To Balance Budget

Finally, the president asserted: "I am confident that the receipts of the government, without imposing any additional taxes will, within a year or two, be sufficient to care for all ordinary and relief expenditures of the government—in other words, to balance the annual budget."

Between 1920 and 1930, the president said, America sent more than $8,000,000,000 abroad to foreign countries for armaments, construction, "foreign boondoggling, if you will." He continued:

"I ask you the simple question: Hasn't it been a sounder investment for us during these past three years to spend $8,000,000,000 for American industry, American farms, American homes and the care of American citizens...

"In three years our net national debt was increased $8,000,000,000. But in two years of the late war it was increased as much as $25,000,000,000. National defense and the future of America were involved in 1917. National defense and the future of America were involved in 1933. Don't you believe that the saving of America has been cheap at that price? It was more than defense—it was more than rescue. It was an investment in the future of America."

Answers Charges

Answering Republican charges that the national debt will impose a heavy burden of taxation on future generations, the president continued:

"This debt is not going to be paid by oppressive taxation on future generations. It is not going to be paid by taking away the hard-won savings of the present generation.

"It is going to be paid out of an increased national income, an increased individual income, produced by increased national prosperity."

Concluding, he assured the crowd that "the government of this great nation, solvent, sound in credit, is coming through a crisis grave as war without having sacrificed American Democracy or the ideals of American life."

Taking cognizance of attacks directed at the administration for failure to balance the budget, President Roosevelt observed:

"The only way to keep a government out of the red is to keep the people out of the red. We had to balance the budget of the American people before we could balance the budget of the national government. That makes common sense, doesn't it?"

He added:

"To balance our budget in 1933 or 1934 or 1935 would have been a crime against the American people. To do so we would either have had to make a capital levy that would have been confiscatory or we would have had to set our face against human suffering with callous indifference. When Americans suffered, we refused to pass by on the other side. Humanity came first."

The president said he had cast aside a "do-nothing or a wait-and-see policy" and moved first to stop deflation and the decline in national income, and this accomplished went on to restore purchasing power, to raise values and to start the national income upward.

Mentioning former President Hoover by name for the first time in the campaign, President Roovelt asserted:

"President Hoover's administration increased the national debt in the net amount of over $3,000,000,000 in three depression years and there was little to show for it. My administration has increased the national debt in the net amount of about $8,000,000,000 and there is much to show for it."

"It's comforting to know somebody's doing something about speed. Soaring smoothly over a white-capped sea, I have nothing to do today—the second day out on a dash by commercial means of transportation to circumnavigate the globe in about three weeks—but to read a mystery novel; But the biggest mystery to me is whether I'm going to catch that Rome plane before she leaves, and if I do—will I get a seat?

With my two rivals, Leo Kiernan and H. R. Ekins, I whiled away time in a song-fest at the piano and even invaded the tiny kitchen of the Hindenburg. There, while the stewards and dish-washers serenaded me with German love-songs, I fried a veal cutlet on the electric stove.

Foreign exchange already has me baffled, so I threw myself on the mercy of the stewards while I bought some post cards and a fountain pen. International News Service Staff Correspondent

FRANKFORT-ON-MAIN, Germany, Oct. 2—Less than an hour after she touches German soil, Miss Dorothy Kilgallen, New York Evening Journal and International News Service reporter attempting to girdle the globe in twenty days, will be off on the second leg of her history-making journey.

All arrangements were completed today for reception of the dirigible Hindenburg, due here between 8 a. m. and 10 a. m. Tomorrow with Miss Kilgallen and her two rivals, Leo Kieran and H. R. Ekins aboard.

At 2 o'clock this afternoon (9 a. m. E. S. T.) the Hindenburg was more than two-thirds of the way across, streaking along at better than 100 miles an hour with benefit of a tail-wind which was expected to continue.

The actual landing will take less than forty minutes. A picked detachment of 250 Nazi storm troopers are on hand to facilitate the grounding and another 200 will be on call if needed to get the big ship down to earth on time to permit Miss Kilgallen and her rivals to make their next connection.

Special arrangements have been made to ensure Miss Kilgallen and the other globe-girder will not be delayed by red-tape.

They will be permitted to disembark the moment the huge ship touches the ground and the customs office formalities will take only a couple of minutes. When these have been completed, Miss Kilgallen will be rushed to a plane waiting for her on the other side of the field, little more than a mile away.

Unusual precautions have been taken to prevent any interference with speedy disembarkation of the passengers.

modernist movement had its birtn they have swung back to the supernaturalism of the New Testament without qualification."

Dr. Master has occupied but two pulpits in his career as a minister. His first charge was in Buffalo, N. Y., and his second and last pastorate was in Fort Wayne, Ind. In Fort Wayne he was the pastor of the congregation of which W. Miller Wardrop, formerly of New Castle, was a member. In 1919 he was assigned to the post of general secretary of the Board of Pensions, which post he now occupies.

Served In France.

During the World war Dr. Master was in Y. M. C. A. in France. In the St. Mihiel drive he served as a stretcher bearer. He was especially commended for his work at Gievres.

There is something of the crusader about Dr. Master. Not a young man as years go, he has the vigor and vitality of a man of 40. Physically, he is powerful and shaking hands with him is at the risk of a metacarpal bone. The energy and enthusiasm that has marked his work in the board of pensions shines out from his eyes as he talks and his address tonight before the men in the First Presbyterian church should be something worth hearing.

From New Castle he goes west to Tulsa, Okla., where he has an engagement and in the west he will visit other cities. He is a resident of Philadelphia.

A third army is battling leftist militiamen along a wide front from Naval Carnero around Santa Cruz de Retamar all the way to Maqueda.

On the northernmost swing of the tightening half-circle around Madrid, according to the rebel radio at Seville, the insurrectos broke through the Guadarrama mountains in Arrebatacapas Pass, the route of the Madrid Salamanca railway, and are beginning a new march on Madrid.

All told, according to rebel claims, 125,000 Moors, Foreign Legionaires, regular army troops and volunteers are now being massed for the siege of Madrid.

served" order, filled rapidly, and when Gov. George H. Earle arrived with his wife and party a few moments before 8 o'clock, the park was filled.

In the interim, a civic orchestra played everything from jazz to opera, a pretty young singer rendered several popular songs, and the crowd joined in lusty choruses to "Let Me Call You Sweetheart," "Way Down Upon the Swanee River," and "My Wild Irish Rose."

Hawkers sold hot coffee, hot dogs and peanuts and popcorn—but no ice cream. The air was chill, the ground was damp after the heavy rains, and coffee was popular.

"Happy Days"

The governor's entrance was the signal for the orchestra to strike up "Happy Days Are Here Again," and the crowd, happy to see action after its tedious wait, joined in heartily with the words to the Democratic campaign song. Governor Earle was enthusiastically cheered, and he acknowledged the ovation grinning, Mrs. Earle standing beside him on the speakers' platform sharing the plaudits.

Mr. Roosevelt's motorcade entered the field at 8:47, just as the governor concluded his radio broadcasted address. The stands rose as one man. The cheering was deafening. Riding in an open car, the president, tanned and looking well, waved happily.

Upon the field bands from neighboring communities vied with one another in seeing which could make the most noise. Four-year-old tots, band mascots, turned handsprings on the sodden turf, agile and proud of their moment.

President Roosevelt was greeted upon the speakers' stand by pretty and blonde Carol G. Trainor, four-year-old daughter of Daniel Trainor, Wilkinsburg Democratic leader, who handed Mr. Roosevelt a huge bouquet of long-stemmed red roses. The president's smile was reflected in an equally broad grin from the slightly bashful Carol.

Prominent upon the speakers' stand were U. S. Senator Joseph F. Guffey; his sister, Mrs. Emma Guffey Miller; Anthony J. Drexel Biddle, Jr., Philadelphia sportsman and socialite, and now United States Minister to Norway, and David L. Lawrence, Democratic state chairman, who introduced the president.

on the job and put on a program of music and entertainment that took the crowd's fancy. By now this orchestra has a professional polish that compares with a lot of the name bands touring the country.

The exhibit opens at two in the afternoon in the dining room of the Cathedral and is on from seven to eleven at night. Saturday night closes the exhibit.

GOOD WEATHER FOR GAME TODAY

which sank almost without audible trace below Wednesday's dispiriting rain.

President Attends

It even was to have a co-attraction in the president of the United States who, with his official party, was to view the proceedings from a box of honor just to the right of the Giant dugout, perhaps as an inspiration to drama.

The president, just newly elected then, was fan-in-chief during that memorable occasion in Chicago four years ago when Ruth first "called" his home run against Charley Root and then hit into the center field stands.

That was one of the unforgettable moments of world series baseball, whereas the current event so far has been considerably on the comic. The single sculls were held on Wednesday when Carl Hubbell buzzed and blistered his mysterious technique through the sodden atmosphere to beat the Yankees, 6 to 1. Yesterday, it was necessary to call off the proceedings altogether before they degenerated into an eight-oared special.

In Good Shape

But today the diamond had been reclaimed from its morass and laid out to dry in the sun. Left field, which had been almost inundated, was now beginning to put in a claim for riparian rights and, altogether, everything seemed favorable.

These figures seemed a bit confusing, in view of the fact that the Yanks must win today, or get ready for second money—because of the probability that Hubbell will win three before the end, tying the world series record. It is also in the records that no three-victory man had even been with a loser.

Anyhow, the Giants "were sending Hal Schumacher, sinker-ball technician, against the Yankees' Lefty Gomez for this show-down game and, to a man on top of the stands, it looked strictly the part of a stand-off. Both were great in former years. Both were terrible through most of the current campaign. Then both came back toward the end.

If they happened to be right this afternoon, a low score game was organized. The slugging Yanks quite apparently can't hit those "down-stuff" pitchers. As for the left-handed Gomez, he figured to have the jump on Bill Terry, Mel Ott and Joe Moore, the big guns of what the Giants comically call their attack.

Incidentally, the appearance of Gomez was to bring the first change in the lineups—the insertion of the right hand hitting Hank Leiber in center field for the Giants in place of Jim Ripple.

Dancing was in vogue and at a suitable time the guests were invited to take their places at a beautifully appointed table, arranged in "T" shape, with the bride-elect and the groom-to-be being seated at either end. Glowing white waxen candles in two six-branching candelabra, were placed at either end, and enhanced the color theme developed in the pale blue china and burgundy glassware used.

Miss Royston and Mr. Clark, both popular members of the younger set here, will be wed Saturday morning at 11 o'clock in the church proper of St. John's Episcopal church at Youngstown, O., the former home city of the bride-elect.

LEGION FOUR-COUNTY MEET AT GREENVILLE

The Greenville unit of the American Legion Auxiliary entertained Thursday at the First Presbyterian church of Greenville others of the same organization at their Four-County meeting.

Mrs. Vera Keen, their new department president of Pennsylvania, was the honored guest, and others who received special recognition included Mrs. Jane Beadle, past department president, who is now the national defense chairman of the department; Mrs. C. B. Hoover, department membership chairman; Mrs. William Louden, department poppy chairman; Mrs. A. B. Denniston, director of this district, and others.

A number of good talks were heard on "Americanism" and "National Defense". Mrs. D. Anderson of Beaver was the newly installed president for this year's activity. Mrs. Denniston installed the officers of the different units, including Mercer, Ellwood City, Monaca, Sharon, Zelienople, Aliquippa, Greenville and Rochester.

The dining room was beautifully decorated for the serving of dinner at the appointed hour, and the banquet tables were graced with huge bouquets of fall flowers. Places were marked for 211 guests. Those who attended from New Castle were Mrs. Orville Potter, Mrs. John Wilson, Mrs. E. J. Suber and Miss Lillian Hartman.

On November 19 the units will meet at Mercer for their Four-County assembly, the full details to be announced.

GARDEN CENTER IN THE NEW LIBRARY

Furtherance of plans for the Garden Center which will be located in the newly remodeled Library building at the corner of Mercer and North streets, constituted the major part of the business session at the meeting of the Lawrence County Garden club on Thursday, in the home of Mrs. E. W. Greiner, on Winter avenue.

The Lawrence County club recently announced a gift of $1,000 for New Castle's newest project, and all the members are enthused over the outlook for the new center which will be available to all residents of the community.

Mrs. C. Allan Ingals, the president, presided over the business period, preceding which there was a delightful hour of informality during luncheon. From a beautifully appointed table, centered with varied garden flowers, tasty delicacies were served buffet fashion. Visitors sharing in the pleasures were the hostess' mother, Mrs. Joseph G. Hull, who makes her home with her daughter, and Mrs. John A. Edgar.

For the program still later, roll call was answered by giving Facts in the Life of Burbank. It was followed by two interesting talks, one by Mrs. Charles Greer on "Stream Pollution" and another by Mrs. S. D. Pearson, on John Bartram and His Botanical Garden.

Presenting a wealth of material from the department of commerce, Mrs. Greer gave her topic from three important angles; as a health measure, conservation of aquatic life; and legislation before the federal government to control the situation.

Speaking of John Bartram, the founder of the first botanical garden in the American colonies, Mrs. Pearson spoke of his scientific achievements and the celebration a few years ago in Philadelphia, of the 200th anniversary of the founding of the first botanical garden in America.

She told of his early life, his keen mind, and his sincere interest in all kinds of plant and animal life, telling that in one instance he has traveled as far as 100 miles to see a rare specimen, which was a great distance a couple hundred years ago, without desirable means of travel.

His garden was one in which Benjamin Franklin and George Washington and other great people, were wont to gather in earlier days to discuss the trend of the times, as well as garden lore.

Afer the program, the group was invited to view the beautiful garden about the Greiner home, which was a mass of colorful autumn flowers set off against a background of pines and other foliage.

In November, the next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. W. C. Kennedy, 465 Neshannock avenue, the first Thursday.

A banquet marked the evenings program, places being marked for forty guests at long tables adorned with gorgeous floral centerpieces. A full course menu was served at the appointed hour, and following, Dan Reeble, chairman of the program took charge.

William Nunn, Mont Magill and Max Ludwig were called upon, each responding with appropriate speeches. Various others contributed remarks fitting to the occasion. The balance of the evening was spent with various forms of pastimes.

LANDON'S CABINET POLICY

THE ringing words in which Governor Landon has declared his policy regarding cabinet appointments if he is elected president will carry conviction to the country.

The immediate occasion for the Republican candidate's declaration is Chairman Hamilton's statement that he would not take the position of postmaster general. Mr. Landon not only indorses this statement with his customary forthrightness, but announces his intention to select the most competent executive he can find, draft him for postmaster general and put the department on a business basis.

Mr. Landon had previously intimated that he would not hesitate to cross party lines in forming his cabinet. He now states: "No man simultaneously could be a member of my cabinet and chairman or a member of the Republican national committee. You can add that the president's recent civil service order proved not to be a real step toward a merit system in the post office department. Its effect is to freeze the tenure of the present job holders."

If Mr. Landon is elected, Farleyism and all for which it stands will be cut out, root and branch. No American administration has fostered the growth of the spoils system to such an extent as the New Deal.

In Mr. Landon the merit system in government will have a firm friend and supporter—a refreshing and wholesome change from the political game of the past three years.

SNOW

October snow is no new experience for any Northwest state, but it is not always so welcome as this year. In Montana, Wyoming and Colorado an early snow, if accompanied by temperatures below the twenties, goes hard with the range cattle. But this season even those states welcome October snow. Drought has seared both the pasture and the cultivated fields cutting crops short and endangering the natural feed for livestock. The snow not only breaks the drought, but it promises moisture for next year. It is an old maxim that plentiful snow is followed by plentiful crops. Open winters may be easy on the cattle but they mean lean pickings for every one in the next summer.

So snow in the west is of more than momentary importance. Because it points to a snowy winter, it probably means good crops next year. Good crop prospects invariably affect the temper of the farmers.

CROPS AND DIETS

Diets and menus are not determined by fashions and weights alone. People eat certain foods at certain times for the purpose of reducing or gaining weight, or for health reasons or because other foods are scarce or too expensive.

The American diet during the coming winter will be affected by last summer's drought, the government's crop reduction program and price increases resulting therefrom. Families, irrespective of their means, instinctively turn to foods most plentiful and cheapest.

When most of the food supply was raised in the backyard of the family that consumed it the folks ate fruit when there was fruit, food prepared from grain when there was grain and vegetables when the truck garden flourished. When famine was abroad in the land people ate what they could dig out of the earth, pick from trees or catch in the way of fish and game.

This is civilization, but man's diet is still governed in some degree by nature. More so, probably, than man commonly supposes.

But the dietary revisions that may be more or less compulsory until the 1937 harvest will not be the cause of unhappiness or discontent at the average family table. The American housewife is resourceful and ingenius enough to put together what raw materials are at hand and by some sort of magic produce something good to eat.

The true test of business ability is to get money in a place where there isn't much to be got.

Maybe youth despises the old order, but what of it? Was there ever a time when youth didn't?

FOURTEEN

Would I were very wise and knew
Just what a growing child should do,
What joys to grant and what to deny,
What to bestow and what withhold.
But baffled and perplexed am I,
Since fourteen's neither young nor old.

I find this problem dark and deep:
What to discard and what to keep.
She would be older than her years,
We as a child would have her stay.
Yet here a danger grave appears;
We would not drive one joy away.

Plainly in vain we two have clung
To what we did when we were young.
Customs have greatly changed since then.
Our childhood long has passed away.
Those manners will not come again.
And Janet's fourteen years today.

This is the thought that puzzles me:
What now is best to do and be.
These are her times; her childhood days.
She has a right to happy hours,
So let us wisely guide her ways.
This is her fourteenth year, not ours!

Coolidge Liked Baseball.
Around The World Again.
The Poor Are Still Here.
Where Are The Smiths?

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

AMERICANS, from top to bottom, consider baseball one of the noblest works of man. At dinner on the yacht Mayflower, President Coolidge sat, solemn as always, his guests including Secretary of State and Mrs. Kellogg, George Harvey, Gen. Pershing, and some others.

A marine brought in a wireless dispatch. There were complications with Mexico just then; guests thought the message might have to do with that. President Coolidge looked up, smiled his rare and loveable smile, said "Well, Washington won."

Wednesday night Dorothy Kilgallen, of the New York Evening Journal, started out to see how thoroughly Nellie Bly's record could be beaten, in these flying machine days.

She started with competing masculine reporters, all on board the airship Hindenburg. Using only commercial transportation routes crossing the Atlantic by dirigible, Europe and Asia by plane, catching the American "China Clipper" at Manila, flying the Pacific to California, and the United States by airplane to New York, Miss Kilgallen expects to be back in three weeks or less.

SPITE FENCE

I BUILT ME a spite fence.
I said, "I don't like that fellow. I don't like his nose. I don't like the way he walks. I don't like the hours he keeps. I don't like anything about him.
I don't know him, of course, but I have a Sure Instinct about these things. It never fails and I know the instant I see anybody whether I'm going to like him or not. And I KNOW I'M NOT GOING TO LIKE HIM!"
Whenever I talked about him, my sentences were peppered with "I's." I thought more about me than I thought about him . . . So I built me a Spite Fence against him. Built it between him and me and shut him out forever . . . Curiously enough, he didn't seem to know it was there. I knew it, but he didn't. I had raised a wall, but he didn't seem to mind it at all. He nodded when he passed and angered me with his genial indifference to my dislike.
It was a strange thing, that Spite Fence . . . It seemed alive. It grew. It sank its wiry roots into the meager soil of my petulance, drew a bitter sustenance and climbed to the blue skies above. And the taller it grew the happier I thought I was. It grew until it shut out my sun, even, and left me in the shade.
But finally it grew too high and too big for its mean little roots, and in a high wind and a thunderstorm one night it blew over and fell on me—and crashed in my roof—and made me a terrified prisoner. . . . So I yelled, I yammered, I screamed for help. For help.
And my yowlings were heard above the storm of my trouble, my pain, my misfortune, and who do you think heard and came to my help? That fellow who lived beyond my Spite Fence, of course. He came swiftly, with comfort and splints and bandages and gentle help. And I found him gentle and generous and thoughtful and sympathetic—and just the friend I had been seeking all my life.
I had drawn a circle to shut him out, but Life had drawn the larger circle to include us both. And my Spite Fence blew clean away in the cleansing storm and was never mentioned again.

Jefferson Aided Madison.
His Record Helped In Campaign.
Embargo Act Failed To Stem Votes.

By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Staff Writer

THE RACE of James Madison for the presidency — in 1808 — actually was carried on by President Thomas Jefferson. The great liberal towered so far above any individual of his day that members of his party either rose or fell by his actions. As it occurred, they rose to power, one after another.

Thus the campaign of 1808 must be judged on the executive acts of Thomas Jefferson during his last term—for Madison ran on a platform to continue the Jeffersonian policies.

ATTACKS REACT

With the worker and the farmer, Jefferson was aided by the attacks, vicious and unrestrained, and too often personal, made on him by members of the New England "aristocracy" and clergy.

This was torture to Jefferson, who made no response but trusted in the judgment of the people.

As James Truslow Adams explains in "The Living Jefferson":

"Almost all our presidents, especially those who have marked personalities or who have been protagonists in especially emotional periods of politics, have been unmercifully assailed in the opposition press, but few have been subjected to such unwarranted attacks upon their private moral character as was Jefferson." (He was a man, incidentally, whose entire life was above reproach.)

"In a period when the clergy were of great influence, he had made the general body of them, of all denominations, hostile to him by his fight for religious liberty and disestablishment."

ERRORS?

Jefferson made mistakes in his second term that might have destroyed any other figure not so popular with the people. One probable error was his prosecution—the opposition termed it "persecution"—of Aaron Burr.

In July, 1804, Aaron Burr, vice president, stung by criticisms of Alexander Hamilton, challenged the leader of the Federalists to a duel. Hamilton was killed. Burr continued as vice president till the end of his term, in March, 1805—when he went forth a politically ruined man.

Then, in 1806-7, President Jefferson heard that Burr was intriguing in the west and south to separate that region from the Union.

"At first," says James Truslow Adams, "Jefferson did not take Burr's movements or possible plans seriously. Then, becoming alarmed by what was reported to him, he had Burr arrested, brought to Richmond and tried on a charge of treason. John Marshall's (chief justice) brother-in-law, J. D. Daviess of Kentucky, and another of his relatives, former Senator Humphrey Marshall of the same state, had been chiefly instrumental in spreading abroad rumors of Burr's plot. When, however, Burr reached Richmond as a prisoner, the chief justice of the United States, before whom he was to be tried, actually attended a dinner given in the prisoner's honor!

"There was insufficient evidence to convict Burr of the crimes charged, especially as Marshall defined treason, and the trial was mainly notable as an unseemly duel between the chief justice and the president, which lessened the dignity and popularity of both."

FAILURE

Jefferson's greatest failure, however, was reserved for his efforts to isolate the United States from Europe.

Trade with Europe was essential—and trade meant political contact.

Great Britain and France were waging a terrific war. And each preyed upon American ships.

"By 1806 the situation was intolerable," James Truslow Adams comments. "Jefferson had the options of tamely submitting, of going to war, or, diplomacy now having failed, of finding some substitute for war which would restore our rights without armed hostilities."

Jefferson chose economic pressure. When a decree prohibiting intercourse with all British vessels failed to stop outrages against American crews and vessels, Jefferson, in December, 1807, had congress put through a drastic embargo bill.

For a while this seemed a wise alternative to war.

But the embargo proved a boomerang. It virtually destroyed the commerce of the United States.

"It was not, however, a complete failure." Adams, the historian, contends, "though it created such intense feeling against Jefferson as to make the end of his second term as president almost as unhappy as that of his second term as governor (of Virginia). On March 1, 1809, he signed a bill passed by congress, repealing the embargo act completely, and substituting in its stead an act merely prohibiting trade with Great Britain and France until one or the other should suspend or repeal its respective decrees or orders in council.

"Nevertheless, the embargo had been worth trying, though its lesson seems now to have been lost. It did keep us out of war without loss of prestige until 1812, thus avoiding nearly six years of waste of blood and treasure."

EASY VICTORY

The election already had been won, though, for Madison, in the previous November.

His vice president was George Clinton, of New York, who had been chosen vice president with Jefferson four years previously, following Burr's retirement.

The Federalists had the same candidates as four years previously against Jefferson — Pickney and King. This time they received 47 electoral votes against the 14 in 1804. Madison swamped them with 122.

The Federalists were near their end.

A young man having read in his home town paper the address of the president, in which the youth of America were urged to hold fast to their dreams, sent the following letter to the paper:

"Dear Editor—I am a young man 17 years of age and I have dreams which I guess come under the type of which the president speaks. In my most recurrent dream I seem to be suspended in space while the world is being made over. Thousands of people, all wearing Washington licenses front an' rear are rushing about making the world over. Always in the forefront is a man who is directing operations from an enormous blueprint, which later turns out not to be a blueprint at all, but an old road map of Boston, which got discolored through being packed in a lunch kit with some blueberry pie.

"In this dream I seem to be very happy. All my cares seem to fall away. I can't seem to worry about anything, and everything would be lovely except for a fellow who keeps trying to grab my umbrella and singing 'It Ain't Gonna Rain No More.' About fifteen years pass and I seem to be down a deep well when hordes of bill collectors suddenly swoop down upon me and say I owe $567,890,356.27. My dream ends this way, and I wake up on the floor with my head cut. Has this dream any meaning?

Pioneer Gold Rush More Spectacular Say Mining Experts

(International News Service)

DENVER.—Western mining experts have tagged the current rush the greatest in history.

Although the Jumbo mine in Nevada, bought by George Austin for $10,000 and for which he was offered more than a million dollars, and a few other such spectacular properties have absorbed much of the public attention, the intensive development of practically every metal-mining community in the West has impressed mining men as most significant.

John T. Joyce, Colorado state mining commissioner, pointed to renewed activity in the famous Cripple Creek field and in Boulder, San Juan, San Miguel, Gilpin and Clear Creek counties as being responsible for much of the state's $12,000,000 gold production in 1935.

Idaho State Mine Inspector Arthur Campbell reported much development under way in his state in the gold counties of Boise, Valley, Gem, Owyhee, Elmore, Custer and Lemhi, but said it had not reached the level of 75 years ago.

Utah State Mine Inspector E. A. Hodges said Utah gold production was "nearing a new record."

Small gold dredging outfits were reported leading in activity in California.

"The pioneer gold rush was more spectacular," said Dr. George Hansen, Utah geologist, upon completion of a government-sponsored mining study. "But the one going on now is the greatest of all time."

Wealth seekers, whose predecessors braved Indians across the plains or sailed "around the Horn," are moving by modern means into thinly-settled Nevada, into the historic fields of California, to Utah, Colorado, New Mexico and all the mining states in varying degrees.

In addition to the rise in price of the precious metal to $35 an ounce, the greater efficiency of modern machinery in recovering gold from low-grade ores tends to make gold mining more profitable than at any time in the past.

Philippines. His captain, Sebastian Del Cano, finished with one ship left of five and 18 survivors of 237 men. That trip took one thousand and eighty-three days, one month more than three years.

That now seems slow. The trip in three weeks will seem slow one hundred years hence, when men will travel in the stratosphere as fast as the sun seems to move around the earth, one thousand miles an hour. The flier of 2036 will start, thirty or forty miles up at sunrise, and return with the next morning's sun.

What men can imagine they can do, and it is easy to imagine that.

IT WAS said truly "the poor you have always with you."

In Tom's River, New Jersey, John Holter, 77 years old, completely destitute, is locked in the county jail, "because no public agency would grant relief to him and his wife, Ellen, who is 53 years old."

A family allowed Mrs. Holter to work for board and lodging, no money; she got out of jail.

At this writing John Holter is still locked up, no crime alleged, only a complaint that the Holters "had no visible means of support." Mr. Holter, in jail at 77 for being poor, may find comfort in the text about the "foxes that have holes, birds that have nests; while the Son of Man hath not where to lay his head."

You might ask "where are the Smiths, Browns, Robinsons and Joneses of yesteryear?"

Do they not need or want scholarships, or do they dislike hard study?

RUSSIAN FORCES under, on and above the water, are carrying out war maneuvres that probably interest Japan.

RUSSIA imagines an attack on Soviet shores, and prepares to meet it, which means probably a JAPANESE attack. Vladivstok, only 400 miles from the Japanese coast, is especially active.

A spokesman for Russia said:

"Japan will not attack, she waited three years too long and knows it."

But there remain, always, the IF and PERHAPS.

CUBA TAKING seriously her "terrorism, kidnaping, gang rule," passes a law providing that the gangster, once convicted, shall be executed by a firing squad within twenty-four hours after sentence.

Discouraging to Cuba's gangsters and kidnapers, that must be even more discouraging to Cuba's criminal lawyers, if any.

An influx of gangsters may be expected from Cuba to this country, where a man with the right criminal lawyer, if he fails of acquittal, may die of old age before his sentence is carried out.

Red Flags Banned By Ajaccio Mayor

(International News Service)

AJACCIO, Corsica—Communists will flaunt no red flags in this little town, famous as the birthplace of Napoleon.

Not because of reverence to the memory of the great French leader, but because the mayor says "no".

A decree, issued by His Honor reads:

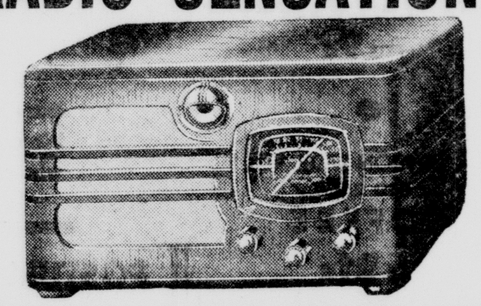

In order to maintain order in the streets and places of the city of Ajaccio, and in full appreciation of the danger to this abovementioned order which might arrive through the exhibition of red flags in the afore-mentioned streets and places, hear ye:

"Article I.—The exhibition of the red flag is forbidden in the streets and places of Ajaccio.

"Article II.—The commander of the gendarmes and the commissioner o police a creahergd t sioner of police are charged, each one in respect to what concerns him, with the execution of the present decree."

Einstein has held that gravity is not instantaneous. Yet there is no record of it having failed to fulfill its purpose

Learns 'She' Is A Man; Requests Masculine Name

WARSAW—An extraordinary case of change of sex from feminine into masculine is reported from Sosnowiec in South Western Poland.

The District Court of Sasnowiec heard an application from Miss Bronislawa Bednarska, aged 22, inhabitant of Niemce-Bory, for the change of her Christian name from feminine into masculine on the ground that she is not a woman but a man.

Bednarska stated at the same time that she was examined by Dr. Olbrycht, medical expert of St. Lazarus hospital in Cracow, who testified that she was a man and not a woman.

The hearing of this unusual case will be held in a few weeks, and Dr. Olbrycht will be asked to deliver positive proof that Bednarska's sex actually changed from feminine into masculine and that therefore she is entitled to the change of her Christian name.

CATERPILLAR SLED FOR SNOWY ROADS

(International News Service)

GOVERNMENT CAMP, Ore.—A new "snow-bug" a motor driven sled that will attain a speed of 25 miles an hour even when drawing a heavy load over deep snows is expected to solve the problems of reaching the new Mount Hood Hotel in bad weather.

The hotel is being constructed high up on the slopes of Mount Hood. Federal funds made the project possible.

The new type motor-sled was built by I. F. Davidson. It is a caterpillar affair, with retractable pneumatic tires for pulling over patches of bare ground. The sled will cost about as much as an automobile.

Black Narcissus, 'Flying' Skunk, Gets Unorthodox

(International News Service)

NEW ORLEANS, La.—Black Narcissus, flying mascot of the 77th pursuit squadron, Barksdale field, is a skunk. Not an orthodox skunk for he has visited a surgeon. But he is filled with indignation.

Black Narcissus, 4-months-old, has 17 flying hours to his credit. He doesn't like New Orleans in general and Shushan airport in particular. He arrived via plane, with his owner, Lieutenant D. T. Mitchell.

First the mosquitoes got to Black Narcissus and his eyelids were almost swollen shut, giving a slightly hanger-overish cast to his face. Then a pouring rain flooded the officer's quarters and he was marooned on a table top.

He developed the habit of retaliating to playful cuffing in a manner highly offensive. It happened once and it happened again. Lieutenant Mitchell each time patiently had his clothes fumigated. When it happened a third time it proved too much so the lieutenant headed for the post doctor with Black Narcissus under his arm.

"He smells," said the lieutenant, "and I want you to do something about it."

So Black Narcissus underwent an operation and the doctor despondently aired his operating room for three days.

FIX STAIRWAYS SHORTLY

Bids for replacing the marble treads in the two lobby stairways at the post office building will be asked soon by Postmaster Richard A. Steen, who was authorized to make the call today. One of the stairways has been in need of repairs for months.

COLLEGE STUDENTS GOOD CREDIT RISKS

(International News Service)

LOS ANGELES—College students are good credit risks, being 98 per cent honest.

That was the report today on students loans at the University of California at Los Angeles, compiled by Joe Fike, student in charge of loan accounting.

Male students, however, repay their loans more quickly than women, probably because they work during the summer while the co-eds usually must wait until after graduation, when they obtain regular employment.

W. F. DUFFORD & CO.
BETTER FURNITURE FOR LESS SINCE 1875

My New York
By James Aswell

Copyright, 1936, Centra Press Association

NEW YORK, Oct. 2—I am, I suppose, a viewer of New York in its aspect of entertainment, of a circus. Politics hereabout has always been more important than the elephants or the bearded woman under the local Big Top and it seems to me that politics is losing its old-time savor.

Time was when contenders for the public trough hated each other colorfully and ardently. When they met on the street, they exchanged baleful glares and when they met before an audience, under official auspices they sat on far sides of the hall and belched sulphurous flame as they mounted the rostrum.

Sometimes, indeed, they came to actual blows at every encounter, so that they had to be followed about by a corps of bodyguards and attended in debate by squads of sergeants-at-arms. This arrangement made the issues for which they stood if any, seem important: and even, when the most skillful dialectician could not discover where their policies diverged, the enmity which they bore one another, as rivals made the partisans of each feel that the election of the wrong man would have dire consequences for the country, the county or the municipality.

All that now appears to be changed. Candidates now call names over the radio but whenever they meet in the flesh they call in the photographers and pose shaking hands, embracing, exchanging flatteries. Even the managers of candidates now try to give the impression that they are playing a game which has no vital and far-reaching implications for every man, woman and child in the country; that it's the immemorial case of Tweedledee vs. Tweedledum and that the only issue, after all, is a person one of who gets the job.

Keeping this space chastely nonpolitical, I am constrained to declare how shocked I was when Hamilton shook Farley's hand the other day. And, retaining tight-lipped neutrality (but for a congenial sympathy for red heads and a Freudian animadversion towards ex-prize-fight commissioners) I must cry out that in the shoes of a certain one of those gentlemen I could not have done it. Nay, even in my own brogans I could not have done it.

Turning the other cheek may be all very well, but there is no need to blow a kiss at an enemy. It takes the bounce and drama out of politics.

Political campaigns should be waged with venom, slugging from the floor and boundless ill-will. In that way the voters—who in the long, dreary years ahead must pay the bill—are given a run for their money. They get a show. They have an excuse to toss confetti and stay up all night when the returns are coming in, win or lose.

Think what would have happened on the eve of the Dempsey-Tunney fight, with its all-time record gate, if the papers had carried photographs of the two principals embracing and opening a joint bank-account with accompanying stories revealing that they were life-long buddies and roommates. Who could have cared which won? Of course, there are the conventional weighing in pictures, featured by the formal handshake, but the smart manager even on these occasions has been known to advise a faint scowl for his protege. The rumor of a "grudge fight" can work marvels at the box-office.

Think what the average Russian proletarian would say, after years of blood, terror and black bread, if he learned that Mm. Stalin, the embodiment of all his high-falutin ideology, were sneaking off with J. P. Morgan, or even Hitler, for a few fingers of vodka and a drench of beer on alternate Saturday nights. Imagine the indignation of the embattled Spaniards if Azana and Franco met on a country road some afternoon and swapped cigars and reminiscences, only to have the story get out.

A campaign might be as crucial for a democracy as a war; there are gloomy days when I think the current one is more important than any war, save one, this country has fought. And even if this is not the case, the pretense should be maintained, the illusion fostered for the paying customers.

Offer A Special Taxi Service To Drunken Drivers

(International News Service)

SAN ANTONIO, Tex.—Service with a smile, is the motto of taxicab companies of this city.

Latest addition to their many courtesies is the Blotto Special, for drunks who still have sense enough to know they shouldn't drive their cars home.

For double the usual fare, two drivers will answer your call in a single cab. One will bring you home in the chartered car; the other will drive your own conveyance to your door. They don't guarantee to face your wife, however.

BLAZING ICE BOX BRINGS FIREMEN

(International News Service)

SAN ANTONIO, Tex.—"Send some firemen over here—by ice box is on fire" cried an excited voice over the fire department telephone here.

The firemen, accustomed to rescuing cats from trees, and all sorts of other odd tricks, were a bit dubious but made the call anyway.

They arrived at the home of Louis Martin—and sure enough found his ice box on fire.

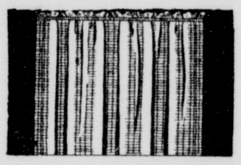

A plumber repairing a drain pipe had placed a blow torch too close to the box, setting it afire.

The more we observe the noble warriors in Spain, the more we can't understand what they are making the world safe for.

REPUBLIC FIRST TO RECOGNIZE ETHIOPA

(International News Service)

SAN MARINO—San Marino, the world's smallest republic is the first power to recognize the Italian Empire in Ethiopia.

Recognition was carried by a unanimous standing vote of the Council of the Republic recently when the Italian consul to San Marino communicated the assumption by King Victor Emanuel of the imperial title.

In addition the Council voted the gold medal of San Marino for military valor to the King-Emperor, to Mussolini and to Marshall Badoglio Duke of Adis Ababa.

Ban Prisoners' Trip Home To Eat, Sleep

(International News Service)

MANILA, P. I. — Prisoners in the provincial goals of the Philippine Islands may no longer return to their homes, unescorted, to have their meals and to sleep.

Elpidio Quirino, secretary of the interior, has just returned from a tour of the provinces and says that this "illegal and bad practice" must be discontinued forthwith.

The reason for allowing the prisoners to take their meals at home was that the provincial government thus avoided the cost of feeding them.

In the past, minor offenders in many of the prisons were permitted to go home two or three times a day for their meals.

Many of them were released every night so that they could sleep at home. Few tried to escape.

"Brass Tacks" On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

Matthew 28:19—"Go ye therefore, and make disciples of all nations."

By DR. ALVIN E. BELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for Oct. 4 is Acts 15:36-16:15 and Romans 15:18-21, the Golden Text being Matthew 28:19, "Go ye therefore, and make disciples of all nations.")

The early apostles were more human than we are wont to regard them. During the time between Paul's first and second missionary journeys as they "tarried in Antioch teaching and preaching the word of the Lord", there occurred the dispute between Paul and Peter, of which Paul writes in Galatians 2:11-21, when he "resisted him to the face for his dissembling". Again, when it came to selecting those to accompany them on the second journey, and Barnabas wanted to take with them John Mark who had deserted them on the first journey, "there arose a sharp contention, so that they parted asunder one from the other, and Barnabas took Mark with him and sailed away unto Cyprus: but Paul chose Silas and went forth". Truly these men are, as they themselves admitted, "men of like passions with ourselves."

Second Missionary Journey

About three years after the inauguration of their first great foreign mission project Paul proposed: "Let us return now and visit the brethren in every city wherein we proclaimed the word of the Lord, and see how they fare." Paul was a faithful pastor with the heart of a shepherd toward all he had won for Christ. Through repeated visits and letters he established in the faith the souls he had won to that faith. This second journey was made overland by way of his old home of Tarsus to the cities visited in the earlier expedition. He even included Lystra where they had stoned him and left him for dead. Here at Lystra the youthful Timothy was converted and became Paul's life-long associate in a beautiful fellowship between an aged veteran and a young recruit.

The Kindly Light That Leads

How Paul was led to carry the gospel into Europe is a beautiful illustration of that for which we pray when we sing "Lead, Kindly Light! amid encircling gloom, lead Thou me on." Paul and Silas planned to go straight westward through Asia Minor, but "were forbidden of the Holy Spirit to speak the word in Asia." This we may label "Closed Door No. 1". They then turned northeastward "through the region of Phrygia and Galatia". From Paul's letter to the Galations we learn that his ministry in Galatia was attended by some illness, which he calls "an infirmity of the flesh, which was a temptation to you in my flesh". This we may label "Closed Door No. 2". Thereupon they turned northward, as "they assayed to go into Bithynia, and the Spirit of Jesus suffered them not." This is "Closed Dood No. 3".

Open Door To Europe

Let those who have been baffled by the repeated closing of doors of opportunity during these depression years study carefully Paul's patient attitude towards these repeated frustrations until he finally had every closed door fully explained in the wide open door toward which every closed door was detouring him, so "they came down to Troas. And a vision appeared to Paul in the night: There was a man of Macedonia standing beseeching him, Come over into Macedonia and help us." Paul's obedience to the vision and entrance into the open door to Europe is one of the crucial events of history. Had the door led instead to the Orient how different might now be Europe, America and the world!

COL. KNOX ASSAILS POLICIES OF ROOSEVELT

Makes Address At Pittsburgh

Reiterates Charges Made Policies Of Administration Are Undesirable

WILDLY CHEERED BY LARGE CROWD

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 2.—A reiteration of his belief that under the Roosevelt administration "no life insurance policy is secure, no savings account is safe," was the reply flung at Democratic state officials today by Col. Frank Knox, Republican vice-presidential nominee, to their threats to hold him accountable under the state laws for such utterances.

"This witless attempt to raise a false issue has focused national attention on the real issue . . . governmental profligacy," Colonel Knox, pulling none of his oratorical punches, told a wildly cheering crowd of 9,000 Republicans that packed the old Duquesne Garden here last night. State officials had threatened Colonel Knox with prosecution under a law prohibiting imputation of instability to financial institution.

Conditions Are Known

Speaking only four block from where President Roosevelt was addressing a Democratic rally, and at almost the same time, Colonel Knox said:

"The conditions referred to in that statement are known to every student of fiscal problems. It is important that all the people know about them. Under a government of continuous and increasing deficits, financed by loans from private banks, some form of inflation is inevitable. It is not a debatable issue. It is a simple fact. I do not need to explain the effects of inflation on the value of life insurance policies and savings accounts. The grim records of history attest to the misery and disaster wrought by inflation."

Quotes Roosevelt Speeches

Colonel Knox quoted liberally from the speech of President Roosevelt here four years ago in which the latter had denounced the deficits of the Hoover administration. Despite the president's promises then, he charged, the Roosevelt administration spent $25,000,000,000; incurred a deficit of $14,000,000,000 and forced banks and insurance companies to absorb $16,000,000,000 of governmental debts.

"This was a sick nation in 1933," he continued, "sick with the depression. And this sick nation was put on the operating table. A leg was taken off by the A.A.A. An arm was taken off by the NRA. Minor operations lopped off other parts in other areas. During the whole time they were bleeding the people with taxes and deficits. But we are a tough people. Recovery was delayed and it is still delayed. But we are on the way out. The people are not going to have this blessed recovery destroyed by waste.

"The people are not going to permit this precious reserve to be frittered away by a government that has not known where it is going for four long years. See what the hundred millions savers in this country do on November third. The first and foremost quality of government in a Democracy is trustworthiness. You are going to have a trustworthy government under a trustworthy president, Alfred M. Landon."

Former Local Boy Proves To Be Hero

Rescues Man From River Who Had Attempted To Commit Suicide At Ecorse, Mich.

Seventeen-year-old Harry Burnham, of Ecorse, Mich., a former resident of New Castle, proved himself a hero last Saturday, when he leaped into the Rouge river, at Ecorse, Mich., and rescued Cud McPherson, of River Rouge.

McPherson tried to fight the youth off, but Burnham succeeded in grabbing McPherson by the hair, and dragging him to shore, where he was taken into custody by police for an examination by psychiatrists.

After the rescue, Burnham disappeared, and could not be located sor some time, stating that he wished to avoid the publicity attendant on the incident.

Burnham is the son of Ewing and Ella Waddington Burnham, who formerly lived on Ray street and Fairmont avenue, before going to Ecorse. He was known to his friends here as Jack.

Sad, Sad Story Of Champ Steer's Great Tragedy

(International News Service)

DETROIT—A hero today—beef steak tomorrow!

This was the tragedy of "Cass City Bank Account," the 860-pound grand champion beef steer of the Michigan State Fair.

For "Bank Account" the paths of glory led from the auction block to a meat counter.

Gov. Frank D. Fitzgerald, amateur auctioneer for the occasion, pronounced a brief eulogy at the block, in the State Fair Coliseum, as "Bank Account" was knocked down to the highest bidder.

"Bank Account is the best steer in the state of Michigan," said the governor. "Bank Account will make the finest piece of beef raised in the state this year. Seventy-seven cents bid. Who'll bid more? Going, going, gone, at 77 cents a pound."

William Rossen, bidder for the State Packing House Market, claimed the steer, paying 77 cents a pound "on the hoof", whereas ordinary beef sells at 10½ cents a pound.

The sale brought Carson O'Dell, 16-year-old Cass City, Mich., 4H club boy, who raised the steer, $662.20.

Hot air does expand things. Congress appropriated $2,500,000 just to "air condition," the Senate and House office buildings. This is half as much as the entire Capitol—which we consider the grandest building in the whole world—originally cost.

Farley Has Little Comment To Make On Smith's Stand

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—National Democratic Chairman James A. Farley today was unruffled by Al Smith's pledge to support to Gov. Alfred M. Landon.

"I went to a show," Farley told reporters who sought comment on Smith's speech last night. "I didn't hear the speech and I haven't read it."

"What do you think of Smith's action, coming out for Landon?"

"That isn't news," Farley retorted. "What else could he do after speaking under the auspices of the independent coalition of American women?"

Economic freedom is a grand idea, but Alas! so many people think it means freedom from economy.

French Radicals Desert Marx For 'Bourgeois' Sport

(International News Service)

PARIS—France's Communists literally are going to the dogs.

Greyhound racing, pastime of the "bourgeois," has become the latest fad of Paris Reds.

When the track first was opened Communists objected heartily to such a sign of "decadence" in their own district. They protested so violently the place was closed briefly.

The reopening, however, met with no objections. First a few hardy Reds, discovering that the entrance price to the cheapest stands was only five francs, tried out the "bourgeois" sport.

Pari-mutuels were installed with a minimum five franc bet. More of Courbevoie's Reds attended. Now, with the greyhound season at full swing, the cheap stands are packed nightly with local workers, taking an evening off from Marx to watch the dogs run.

The Courbevoie stadium runs seven dog races a night. The favorite form of betting is known as the "couple," a scheme of picking dogs in the order in which they are supposed to finish. And Paris Reds' have discovered that—such are the odds—a little judicious study of the form book, plus 90 per cent good luck can make even the most devoted Communist a capitalist overnight.

AROUND CITY HALL

Police docket shows that policemen have been active with the chalk on the tires of automobiles during September. Almost three score cars were tagged and drivers paid fines for parking too long and also for other motor car irregularities. Probabities are that double-parking soon will receive police attention.

Most serious case during the month in police records was a manslaughter case. Next in importance were several arrests, the result of autoists driving while drunk.

Council has determined that the city will not go through with the proposed reconstruction of Cascade street between East Washington street and Croton avenue, unless the cost of the city's share of the project can be made assessable. According to the discussion in council yesterday the work already done there was not performed properly. The cost to the W.P.A., according to what was said during council meeting was between $90,000 and $130,000. The reconstruction program would cost both city and W.P.A., $97,455.90.

City having agreed to accept a deed from the Harmony Realty company for five lots along Taylor street because the company does not intend to pay the sewer liens has resulted in the city taking over the lots as an investment. They may be sold and bring the city as much as the liens and back taxes and possibly more in the future, according to the city solicitor. It would be interesting to the taxpayers to know how much land the city now has control of. In some instances lots are redeemed.

Property-owner of Laurel boulevard complained to council yesterday that a four inch storm sewer is blocked at both ends, causing water to flow back onto lots. The city engineer was ordered to make an investigation and report the exact situation to council.

During councilmanic meeting Thursday at city hall Councilman James L. Fink, finance director, presented a motion that passed, to the effect that the city turn over to the Volunteer firemen $450.00, appropriated when the budget was prepared. The money will be divided into $50.00 lots to each of the eight volunteer fire companies and one share of $50.00, to the general fire department. The money is used for office expenses and has nothing to do with the two percent received from foreign fire insurance business done here. This sum, which usually totals about $4,000, is annually divided between the paid and volunteer firemen's bodies. The latter uses the money for relief purposes and the former for pension purposes.

North America, British Isles Once Linked?

(International News Service)

BERKELEY, Cal. — Contentions that a bridge of land connected North America with the British Isles about 2,000,000 years ago have received support from discovery in Scotland of the skeleton of a ferocious meat-eating reptile, closely resembling one which lived in the Painted Desert region of Arizona.

Dr. C. L. Camp, director of the museum of Paleontology at the University of California, noted the resemblance of the skeleton to that of the American Stagonopolis, while on a visit to the fossil beds of Scotland.

Dr. Camp said the remains resembled crocodile-like armor-plated terrors that roamed the edge of the sea, which once stretched over the western part of the United States.

"The fact that these skeletons resemble each other so closely," said Dr. Camp, "seems to indicate that at some time during the Triassic Age there was a land bridge between the British Isles and America which allowed this reptile family to spread over two continents."

Because this particular type of reptile is not found in the southern hemisphere, Dr. Camp believes this land connection must have been in the north. He said Greenland and Iceland may be the remains of the strip of land which was apparently destroyed before the Permian Age opened.

SEE THE WORLD FROM LAND'S END

(International News Service)

VIENNA—A spot near Land's End, Cornwall, is the center of a hemisphere, according to a well-known Austrian geographical expert, writing in "Reichspost."

If someone could rise high enough above Lands' End, he says, he could survey the greatest extent of land to be seen from anywhere in the world.

If the globe is divided into two equal halves, asserts the writer, England will be found to lie in the center of the hemisphere in which the majority of firm territory is situated.

The antipodic spot near New Zealand is the center of the hemisphere whose surface consists mainly of water.

Whoever is elected the public will hope Uncle Sam tucks in his shirt and takes up his belt a couple of holes.

Richmans Reopen New And Greater New Castle Store

Outside As Well As Interior Remodeled To Give Patrons Improved Service

At 8:30 tomorrow morning, Richman Brothers formally reopen their completely remodeled store at 131 East Washington street...a greater more modern store dedicated to better clothes service to the people of New Castle. The renovizing represents an outlay of $7,500 and a sincere, practical expression of confidence in the buisness and industrial future of this city.

A complete, brand new stock of suits, topcoats, overcoats, evening clothes and trousers arrived yesterday from the company's own Cleveland tailor shops, according to Manager Harry E. Friedman, who will be on hand to welcome and show visitors through the store.

William P. Junglas, vice president of The Richman Brothers company, negotiated the renewal of the lease from Jacob Genkinger, the owner of the property, and also directed all the details of the alteration work, including the letting of contracts.

The front of the building is the newest and modern type. It is trimmed with black Carrara glass, stainless steel, Terrazza floor, the very latest improved type of window lighting. The backs of the show windows are of Flexwood trimmed with stainless steel, while the show window floors are rubber tile, in beautiful design.

The signs on the face of the building are attached directly to the Carrara glass through the holes drilled in the glass, thereby doing away with unsightly appearance of the electrodes, which disfigure the appearance of the older type of neon signs. This, like the other details in the remodeled store, is the most modern method of attaching electric signs.

The interior of the Richman Brothers store has been improved with modern cases, and the office and bundle counter have been moved to a more convenient location to render better and more efficient service. The tailor shop, also, has been modernized with the newest type of equipment to insure patrons of the last word in alterations and fit.

Side walls have been redecorated in natural neutral color tones, resulting in a pleasing harmony with the new interior fixtures and furnishings. The latest type of semi-indirect illumination completes the attractive, completely modernized store.

All work was done by contractors of the city of New Castle. The architects were the Thayer company, the general contractor was M. Dale Andrews, electrical work was done by the Marvin Electric company, painting by F. J. Nolte company, and glass work by the Hoyland Glass company.

Mr. Junglas said that the new store with its latest improvements is a tribute to our many customers who have patronized Richman Brothers in this same location for the past ten years.

The personnel of the store, including H. E. Friedman, manager; R. E. McNees, salesman; James Cherol and Louis DeCaprio, tailors, and Miss Maxine Glenn, cashier, will be happy to greet their many friends in inspection of the new store.

NAVAL NOTES

By M. L. NIXON
Naval Recruiter, Second Floor Federal Building

Recently in checking the records of enlisted men, it was discovered that Henry Grant, officer's steward first class, U. S. Navy now serving on board the USS Chaunmont, reported for duty on that vessel in December 1921, and has served continuously in the Chaunmont since that date. The cruising record of the USS Chaumont shows that she has traveled over 793,000 nautical miles since Grant first reported on board. The regular run of the Transport Chaumont is between New York City and Chingwantao, China. A round trip is completed every six months and the one-way distance is approximately 12,000 miles. Considering the fact that Grant served approximately three years in other vessels prior to reporting to the USS Chaumont for duty it has been roughly estimated that he has traveled approximately 1,000,000 land miles during his service in the Navy. This is considered quite a record.

In the field of scientific research the Navy has been very active in recent years. Among noteworthy accomplishmnts were the devolopment of facilities for the manufacture of Diesel engines. Intensive steel casting research with a view to improving production of steel castings, and experimental work in connection with welding and testing base metals at sub-zero temperatures. Such is one of the many diversified fields of experimental work carried on by the Navy during peace time.

Musical Program At Italian Church

The Coulter All-Star Ensemble will be a special feature of the Sunday evening service at 7:30 o'clock, at the Italian M. E. church. This group of young artists has already made many appearances in New Castle, under the direction of Miss Billie E. Glenn and has always been well received. The other members of the ensemble are Misses Evea C. Coulter, Ruth Phillips, Dorothea Stewart, June Fisher and T. J. McFate, Jr.

Many music lovers besides the congregation will want to hear and enjoy the program of the evening which will include both sacred and classical numbers.

STAGE STRUCK GET CHANCE IN THEATRE

(International News Service)

VIENNA—Every visitor to the international theater exhibition who aspires to become a theatrical producer has had an opportunity to prove his worth.

One of the features of the exhibition was a miniature stage, fitted with numerous changes of scene.

By an elaborate system of "controls" it was possible to move the stage properties to any spot desired and to arrange various lighting combinations. Theatrical experts watched the public "at work" in the hope of discovering, perhaps, a second Max Reinhardt.

JUST BATHE YOUR FACE IN MILK

(International News Service)

LONDON—Girls, if you want to keep that schoolgirl complexion and free from wrinkles, don't waste your money on expensive creams, mud packs and other cosmetics, just bathe your face in milk every day.

This is not the advice of a beauty expert, but of David Merrick, an old gentleman who lives at Pembroke Dock, in West Wales, who has just celebrated his 102nd birthday.

There is not a wrinkle on Merrick's face, despite his 102 years, and he is very proud of the fact.

And the reason is this. He bathes his face every day in milk.

World War Field 'Phone Owned Here

Captain V. A. Diggs, Of Ohio, Has Instrument Used By Von Hindenburg

(International News Service)

KANSAS CITY—General Von Hindenburg finished his direct call to Berlin from Chateau Benoit. The light shone from the imperial crest emblazoned on the side of the telephone box and the black enamel was polished to mirror brightness.

The fighting legions of the American Rainbow division were forcing their way toward his field headquarters with dogged determination. Von Hindenburg prudently dropped back further behind his "wall of steel".

September 20, 1918—Chateau Benoit fell. The German army hastily evacuated before the American onslaught. Von Hindenburg's field headquarters was entered by the victorious Rainbow division. His rug, chairs, table and personal stationery were quickly taken as souvenirs. His handsome field telephone set came into the possession of the division's chief signal officer, Col. Ruby D. Garrett.

Terse American orders supplanted the guttural German that went out over the braided cord as Col. Garrett adopted the instrument for his own use in giving orders to the signal corps. After a time the set became inoperative and Col. Garrett went back to the regular army two-piece phone. Later it became misplaced and for 18 years Col. Garrett bemoaned the loss of the precious souvenir.

Capt. Vernal A. Diggs, now an engineer with the Ohio Bell telephone company, had heard that Garrett once owned Von Hindenburg's phone but had lost it. In a pile of discarded materials he came across the old set, still bearing the imperial crest. A minor repair was made and the phone was again serviceable.

When the Rainbow division held its annual reunion in Kansas City recently, Capt. Diggs brought the instrument with him and presented it to Col. Garrett. "I have many souvenirs," said Garrett, "but this telephone is a prized possession." He persuaded the telephone company to install the set in his home.

The light shines from the imperial crest emblazoned on the side of the box and the black enamel is polished to mirror brightness as Col. Garrett talks to his friends of the Rainbow division over the same phone that 18 years ago re-echoed to guttural orders from Berlin to General Von Hindenburg, high command of the German imperial army.

Tattooed Wrists New Riviera Fad

(International News Service)

JUAN LES PINS—Tattooing, it seems, will enjoy a new vogue of popularity in Riviera resorts this summer season.

Among the sunbathers fraternity here it is beginning again to find particular favor, and on terraces of the big cafes or on the beach one may see men and women with curious designs on the wrist.

Bracelets are among the most popular of adornments, while many prefer finger rings. One also can hear tales of elaborate designs which are certainly not intended for all the world to see.

Some of the devotees, however, are already tired of the new adornment, but find it far more difficult to get rid of than to acquire. Thus, while specialists in tattooing have enjoyed a boom, there is also a lot of work for experts in the removal of the marks. It is a long and painful process, entailing alternate burning and freezing of the flesh, and even then the design is not always wholly obliterated.

Robin Follows Lawnmower For Its Daily Meal

(International News Service)

JEFFERSON, Ohio—The whirr of a lawnmower means only one thing to one of Jefferson's robins—and that is food.

Mr. Robin's nest is near the home of Attorney W. W. Woodbury here, and he has learned of the magic powers of a lawnmower used on a dewy lawn early in the morning.

Each time Woodbury mows his lawns, the robin follows him with an eager eye, for the appearance of nightcrawlers, big brothers of garden worms. They are attracted to the surface by the sound of the machine.

So great is the robin's faith in the lawnmower that when Woodbury pushed it up and down his concrete drive one day, he followed dutifully behind it, ready to pounce on any worm that might pop up from the hard surface.

'SANDWICH-WALKER' GOT JOB OFFERS

(International News Service)

DETROIT, Mich.—William Toderan, unemployed, became a sandwich walker—advertising himself for a job.

Carrying home-made cardboard signs slung over his shoulders Toderan trudged through the noonday throngs of Detroit's main thoroughfare with a legend which read:

"My services can be obtained for a reasonable remuneration."

Toderan, who has been out of work since he graduated from high school three years ago, said he had received two offers of work as a result of his sandwich walking.

RARE PLANTS FROM ARCTIC ON DISPLAY

(International News Service)

ST. LOUIS—Shaw's Garden here, known the world over for its display of plants and flowers, now has on exhibition thirteen different species of lichen plants—a collection of Admiral Richard E. Byrd, famed Arctic explorer.

The collection, as strange and unusual a display as has yet been offered to nature lovers at Shaw's Garden, represents the last bit of vegetation the Byrd expedition saw as they approached the South Pole. The rugged, moss-like growth was observed by the expedition as it eked out a precarious existence on the northern exposure of mountainous rocks within 200 miles of the pole itself.

BOTANICAL FACTS

HARRISBURG—In his newspaper feature, "This Curious World," William Ferguson estimates an acre of trees will evaporate 1500 tons of water in a season, and that in Germany insects destroy one out of every five apples grown, one out of every ten grains of wheat and one out of every thirteen potatoes.

DOUBLE GRAZING LANDS

(International News Service)

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah—Doubling of the area of the federal grazing division within the next month was forecast here by Archie D. Ryan, deputy United States grazing director. The area controlled by the grazing administration, originally 80,000,000 acres, has been increased to 142,000,000 acres, Ryan said.

MR. ROOSEVELT'S MESSAGE

AT PITTSBURGH, PA.

(BEFORE HE WAS ELECTED PRESIDENT, IN 1932)

"We all know that our own family credit depends in large part on the stability of the credit of the United States.

"The credit of the family depends chiefly on whether that family is living within its income. And this is so of the nation. If the nation is living within its income, its credit is good.

"But if, like a spendthrift, it throws discretion to the winds, is willing to make no sacrifice at all in spending, extends its taxing to the limit of the people's power to pay and continues to pile up deficits, it is on the road to bankruptcy.

"FOR OVER TWO YEARS OUR FEDERAL GOVERNMENT HAS EXPERIENCED UNPRECEDENTED DEFICITS, IN SPITE OF INCREASED TAXES.

"Taxes are paid in the sweat of every man who labors, because they are a burden on production and can be paid only by production . . . Our workers may never see a tax bill, but they pay in deductions from wages, in increased cost of what they buy, or (as now) in broad cessation of employment.

"Our Federal extravagance and improvidence bear a double evil; first, our people and our business cannot carry its excessive burdens of taxation; second, our credit structure is impaired by the unorthodox Federal financing made necessary by the unprecedented magnitude of these deficits.

"There is strong indication that we are in for another staggering deficit.

"I REGARD REDUCTION IN FEDERAL SPENDING AS ONE OF THE MOST IMPORTANT ISSUES OF THIS CAMPAIGN. IN MY OPINION IT IS THE MOST DIRECT AND EFFECTIVE CONTRIBUTION THAT GOVERNMENT CAN MAKE TO BUSINESS.

"Would it not be infinitely better to clear this whole subject of obscurity—to present the facts squarely to the Congress and the people of the United States and secure the one sound foundation of permanent economic recovery—a complete and honest balance of the Federal budget?"

EACH OF THOSE STATEMENTS WAS MADE BY MR. ROOSEVELT IN PITTSBURGH, PA.—NOT AS PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES, BUT WHEN HE WAS A CANDIDATE, ASKING THE PEOPLE TO ELECT HIM BECAUSE OF THOSE VIEWS. THE DATE WAS OCTOBER 19, 1932. AND HE ADDED:

"OUR PEOPLE HAVE A RIGHT AND A DUTY TO PLACE IN RETIREMENT THOSE WHO CONCEAL REALITIES AND ABUSE CONFIDENCE."

At Harvard University just a few days ago (September 18th) President Roosevelt pictured himself as one—

"To carry the torch of truth. The truth is great and will prevail."

ARE HIS PROMISES OF TODAY WORTH ANY MORE THAN THEY WERE IN 1932?

Alliance Church Conference Over

Adjourn At Noon; Some Delegates To Remain For Worship Service Tonight

NEW MINISTERS ORDAINED THURSDAY

A final business session this morning and a communion service at noon brought to an official close the annual eastern district convention of the Christian and Missionary Alliance church which had been in progress here since last Monday night.

Although some of the delegates will remain for a special worship service in the Pearson street church tonight most of them started on their homeward journeys early this afternoon.

Pleased By Hospitality.

All were enthusiastic about the splendid hospitality they had received while guests in this city. They had been housed by members of the Pearson street church and People's Mission, fed each day at the Epworth M. E. dining room, and given the spacious facilities of the Second U. P. church for their evening worship meetings.

It was a successful convention in every respect. Reports showed that the past 12 months had brought many advances in the district work and the ministers and laymen are returning to their churches satisfied that their efforts have been repaid and spurred on to greater heights for the coming year.

This morning the committee on schools, of which Rev. A. M. Baggett of Huntingdon is chairman, made a report on the status of the students. A supplementary report of the publications committee on some of the doctrinal statements made in the manual, was submitted.

Rev. S. W. McGarvey, district superintendent, reported that during the yast year the district was, for the first time, incorporated.

Rev. McGarvey, his assistant, Rev. E. C. Anderson of Punxsutawney, and the executive committee then conducted the communion service, closing the official sessions of the 36th annual conference.

Tribute To Deceased.

A short memorial service was conducted Thursday afternoon in tribute to the memory of two departed workers, Rev. J. S. Moore of Pittstown and S. J. Byers of Bellefonte. Mr. Byers had been district treasurer for 34 years.

Earlier in the afternoon photographs of the delegates were taken outside the Pearson street tabernacle. The business meeting brought a number of committee reports. Sectional young people's rallies was the chief topic of the young people's work committee, Rev. H. T. Rowe of Clearfield, chairman. The women's work committee, Mrs. J. H. Boon chairman, spoke of establishing mission study classes in the women's groups.

The work of the Alliance in 22 foreign fields was reviewed by the foreign work committee, Rev. William P. Darling of York, and methods of keeping information before the churches during the year were set forth.

The chairman of the Thursday night service, during which new ministers were ordained, was Rev. Frank Wyre of Arvona. The song leader was Rev. C. Erickson of Meadville, and prayer was led by Rev. J. H. Cable, dean of Nyack Bible school.

Resolutions thanking the entertaining churches, also the Second U. P. and Epworth M. E. churches, and The New Castle News, were submitted by the chairman, Rev. H. M. Best of Girard, and unanimously adopted by the conference.

Norman Larson of Becaria gave a violin solo, "Marvelous Grace", and Miss Sadie Lewis of New Castle sang "Jesus Is Mighty".

Ordained To Ministry.

A very impressive ordination service, presided over by the district superintendent, was then conducted and the following men were ordained to the ministry:

Edward Mink of Dorceyville, Pa.; Lawrence R. VanHorn of Darlington, Pa.; Kenneth C. Steckle of Allentown, Pa.; Wilmer Heffer of Coalport, Pa.; John W. Dittmar of Ridgway, Pa.; Joel McGarvey of Oak Grove, Pa.; J. H. Turner of Castlewood and J. C. Lisbon of Sample, Pa.

The charge to the new preachers was given by Rev. William T. MacArthur. Four points he emphasized in his address: the life the ministers should lead in their own homes, keeping all their business deals above reproach, preparation of sermons and pulpit decorum and pastoral visitation work.

While the executive committee members placed their hands on the heads of the kneeling clergymen the ordination prayer was given by the assistant district superintendent, Rev. E. C. Anderson of Punxsutawney.

A male trio composed of Huber Patterson of Ambridge, John Willfinger of Nadine and Paul Snead of Kane, sang "Fully Surrender". The sermon, closing the inspiring service, was delivered by Rev. P. R. Dede of Washington, D. C., who took his text from John 3:16.

Receive Film Showing Fight On Tuberculosis

Is Shown Before Lawrence County Teachers At Institute Sessions Today

"Behind the Shadows," an interesting motion picture film, showing the work which is being carried on by the national tuberculosis society against this disease which formerly claimed a huge toll of lives in the United States, has been received by the Lawrence County Anti-Tuberculosis society.

The film is being shown here for the first time today to the county school teachers, who are having their annual institute at Union township high school.

It will be shown at various points throughout the county in the near future.

An Arkansas widow who married an old guy had an affair with his son. Happy is the bride the son has a shine on.

Funny man! He takes something to make him feel good, and then takes something else to make it stop hurting.

Correct This Sentence: "I take a few snorts myself," said the wife, "so I never worry about Bill's drinking."

Arizona Slayer Is Put To Death

Roland "Jerry" Cochrane, 28, Pays With His Life In Gas-Filled Chamber

(International News Service)

ARIZONA STATE PENITENTIARY, Florence, Oct. 2.—Unflinchingly, as though he once again were going into battle with the U. S. Marines, Roland ("Jerry") Cochran, 28-year-old hero of American engagements in Nicaragua, jauntily went to his death in the gas chamber here at 5:07 a. m., today for the holdup murder, 20 months ago in Phoenix, of Richard Giles.

Pretty, dark-haired Thelma Martin, 26-year-old Phoenix waitress, who fell in love with Cochrane in a strange prison yard romance after he was sentenced to die and who wanted to climb the last 13 steps with him, left prison shortly after midnight at Cochrane's own request.

"There's no need of your suffering," Cochrane told her and his father, H. H. Cochrane, of Los Angeles. "I'll go this alone just as I used to face death in those Nicaraguan jungles."

Quickly she kissed him goodbye and left the cell in death row. Earlier she and the elder Cochrane had eaten dinner with the condemned man.

Cochrane, one-time "great lover" of the Marine Corps, who formerly lived in New York and San Diego, obtained exactly $2.45 in the robbery which cost him his life.

Fifteen Planes For Airshow, At Pittsburgh, Pa.

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 2.—Pilots for the Taylor Aircraft Company, Bradford, will fly a group of 15 "Flivver" planes here for an airshow at Bettis Field Sunday which will include stunt and formation flying, it was announced today.

The show will continue throughout the day and the planes will start arriving tomorrow. One probably will be a clipped wing sea job, it was said. Included in the program will be passenger flights and flying instruction.

The President called it destiny, but what every qualified American voter really has is a rendezvous with a stub-pencil.

Change Terminal For Street Cars During Sundays

Effective Sunday and on every succeeding Sunday, street cars running north and south in Mill street will make East Washington and Mill street their terminal. Heretofore, cars travelling in North Mill street have had a terminal at Sycamore way and North Mill street and cars operating in South Mill street have had a terminal at Market way and South Mill street.

On Sundays when rain falls this has proved a hardship to churchgoers, according to Mayor Charles E. McGrath. Following a conference with Street Car company Superintendent T. C. Moore he arranged for the new terminals.

No parking signs will be placed prohibiting parking 75 feet north of Mill and Washington street and also for the same distance south of Mill and Washington streets.

It should be easy to entertain a country that holds its breath when two candidates for the presidency are about to meet.

A successful foreign correspondent is one who tells enough truth to hold his job and not enough to get kicked out of the country.

Movie close-ups may be good politics, but you couldn't win our vote by showing a candidate with teeth ten inches long.

Depths Of Love Now Measured By New Gadget

(International News Service)

BUCHAREST — Professor George Marinesco, Rumania's foremost neurologist, has invented an apparatus for measuring the intensity of love The gadget consists roughly of two lead plates which are connected to a series of electrical devices leading to a galvanometer.

To measure the gravity of the wound inflicted by Cupid's arrow, the two lead plates are fixed on the victim's arm and the professor proceeds to read a list of feminine or masculine names, according to the patient's sex. As soon as the beloved one is mentioned, the galvanometer needle begins to quiver and the more intense the feeling, the greater its deviation.

The professor has examined hitherto 230 cases with his psychogalvanometer, 105 men and 125 women, all more or less seriously in love. The deflection of the needle corresponded exactly to the degree of amorous emotion experienced by the patient, but in the case of women the deviation was generally smaller.

Fossil Trees Show Disease Ravages

(International News Service)

COTTAGE GROVE, Ore. — Definite proof that more than one hundred thousand years ago trees similar to present day growths lived and fought the same disease they fight today was seen when a fossil formation was opened near the ranger station on Laying creek.

Between strata of the formation leaf impressions were found which correspond in every way to the maple leaves which grow in the same section today. Some of the leaves were marked by a disease which causes small, round black holes to form in the leaf. A similar disease still attacks maple trees of the vicinity.

119 SECRET CULT MEMBERS FACING TRIAL IN POLAND

(International News Service)

KATOWICE—The largest political trial since the restoration of Poland has just started here with 119 members of the "Nazi Arbeiter Bewegung" accused of conspiracy to separate Polish Upper Silesia from Poland in 1937, after the expiration of the Geneva Convention.

Their alleged activities were discovered in 1934 but it took the authorities two years to secure evidence to warrant an indictment for high treason. The principal defendants face the death penalty or life imprisonment.

The conspiracy was organized by Paul Maniura from Neu Beuthen, who reportedly confessed according to the authorities. Fearing reprisals from his former associates, Maniura committed suicide, but other ringleaders and conspirators are guarded in jail.

Out of 119 accused 89 admitted belonging to this secret organization which took orders from a similar organization in Germany.

Presidential Candidate Foes Of 1928 Join Forces In Support Of Landon

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

TOPEKA, Kas., Oct. 2.—Smashing party lines in his "contest for the preservation of American principles," Governor Alfred M. Landon today welcomed the support of Alfred E. Smith after receiving a personal assurance from former President Herbert Hoover, to "take the stump" in his behalf.

Thus the two men who battled for the presidency in 1928 were united in a common cause—the election of Landon.

Hoover announced at a personal conference with Landon he would campaign for the Republican nominee. Smith proffered his support in a radio address from New York.

Landon Appreciative.

Strangely enough, Landon and Hoover listened together to a part of Smith's address. They also heard a part of the Pittsburgh speech of President Roosevelt but neither would offer any comment on it.

After hearing Smith's pledge of support, Landon said:

"I deeply appreciate the support of Alfred E. Smith, a great Democrat and a great American. He has placed country above partisanship.

"The issues of this campaign are so fundamental they transcend party lines. This election will decide the form of government we shall pass on to future generations.

"I am happy to fight shoulder to shoulder with such leaders as Alfred E. Smith in his contest for the preservation of American principles."

Confers With Hoover.

Landon held a lengthy conference with Hoover, who stopped off here while enroute from Denver to Chicago. Both told newspapermen they had talked about campaign plans.

Asked to comment upon the campaign, Hoover said:

"The reaction to Governor Landon's speeches is very good. I think the Republican cause is making progress."

The former president announced he would take the stump for Landon, starting with a speech in Philadelphia on October 16. Other dates, he added, will be fixed by the Republican national committee.

Landon and Hoover spent more than four hours together. Part of the time they attended a dinner by newspapermen. Landon took Hoover along to the dinner as his guest and later escorted him to his train for the east. On parting, Landon said:

"I've been very glad to see you again. I hope you'll find another opportunity to stop off here for a visit."

Hoover replied:

"I've had a fine visit. I'll be glad to stop again."

Prepares For Chicago Visit.

Landon was closeted with his advisers during the forenoon, working on his speeches for the coming trip to Chicago, Cleveland and Detroit. An initial draft has been finished on the Chicago address, which will deal with the question of balancing the federal budget.

Landon will turn to sports again this afternoon to listen to the second world series game in New York. Tomorrow, he will attend the football game between Kansas university and Washburn college elevens at Lawrence, Kas. He will be neutral there, although a K. U. graduate, as his daughter Peggy Anne goes to Kansa U. and Mrs. Landon is not only a graduate but a trustee of Washburn.

"Mrs. Landon will root for Washburn," he said, "Peggy will root for K. U. and I'll root for the state of Kansas."

Business Burdens Of High Taxation Retards Recovery

Extraordinary Tax Burdens Imposed Are Blamed For Slow Recovery

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—High taxes brought about "by the extraordinary burdens imposed upon business by the relief activities of the government" are retarding "orderly recovery" in the steel industry in the United States, the American Institute of Steel Construction said today in a statement.

The statement, released simultaneously at Berlin, Germany, where the fifth international conference on steel development opened today, said "there exists in the United States a greater resistance to price recovery in the heavy industries than might otherwise be the case," due principally, it was stated, to "the undue and unreasonable publicity given the question of wages . . . and as a result of our experiment with the National Industrial Recovery Act."

"The members of the American Institute of Steel Construction," the statement continued, "and the steel industry in general, cooperated sincerely with the government in its idea to regulate wages and prices.

"The industry is slowly reaching the conviction that such regulation was misdirected and that it definitely retarded recovery.

"Orderly recovery is further restrained by the extraordinary burdens imposed upon business by the relief activities of the government. This brings about the imposition of a greater tax burden which will inevitably check investments and plant extensions.

"The size of the country, however," the statement pointed out, "and its normal physical growth, has backed up such a latent demand that some of these restraining influences should be finally offset by a very natural increase in public demand for goods."

Children's Sukkoth Services Draw Crowd

Service Conducted At Temple Israel Thursday By Rabbi Norman Diamond

On Thursday morning at 10:30, practically the entire Religious School and several parents attended the Children's Sukkoth (Feast of Booths) services at Temple Israel. The service was conducted by Rabbi Norman H. Diamond with the assistance of the pupils. Morton Love and Sanden Rubenson aided with the reading of the Torah (Scroll of the Law) and Natalie Ehrlich told the significance of the joyous festival. In addition, the Lulab (palm-branch) ceremony was observed with the recitation of the traditional blessings. After the service, the children went to the vestry rooms to view the Sukkah (booth) erected and decorated by the Sisterhood of the Temple.

Friday evening services will be held at the Temple this evening at 8 o'clock. Tomorrow morning at 0:45 the first meeting of Religious school classes will take place. An excellent staff has been assembled this year which will include two of last year's confirmands, Estelle Cukerbaum and Reva Love, and three former New Sastle school teachers, Mrs. S. Schwartz, Mrs. S. Skole and Mrs. G. Zieve. Children's Sabath services are held at 11:30. Mr. A. H. Gonick has again been appointed chairman of the Religious School Committee.

Monaghan's Body Is Brought Back To Uniontown

Second Autopsy To Be Performed Upon Body During Day

(International News Service)

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Oct. 2.—The body of Frank C. Monaghan was taken from its grave today and brought back to Uniontown for a second autopsy as Attorney General Charles J. Margiotti, special prosecutor, speeded up his special investigation of charge the 64-year-old hotel keeper met his death under a brutal police "third degree."

Purpose of the second autopsy, requested by Margiotti and ordered by the county court, was ostensibly to reveal the possible evidence of "new tortures"; whether hair clotted in blood on the wall of the bertillon room where it is alleged Monaghan was beaten to death is the victim's; whether some of the scars on the body were from an old illness, as hinted by the defense, and anything else not covered in the first examination.

By court permission, attorneys for State Troopers Stacey Gunderman and Anthony Sanute, and County Detective Wilbert "Patsy" Minerd, now facing murder charges, will be represented at the autopsy today.

Youth Suffers Reverse Vision

West Virginia Youth Sees Everything In Reverse Order Due To Brain Trouble

(International News Service)

MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va., Oct. 2.—A lifetime with reverse vision was in prospect today for 11-year-old Harold Elliot unless baffled medical authorities solve and correct the problem that completely transposes his sight.

Every scene in normal life is reversed for this second grade student who sees everything as it appears in the mirror.

The phenomenon was discovered when his school teacher, Miss Eleanor Mengert, attempting to find the reason for his failure in classes, asked him to write the numerals from one to nine.

Puzzles Doctors

Dr. D. L. Gallagher, Moundsville optometrist, examined Harold and expressed the belief that the trouble lies in improper coordination between the ocular nerves and the brain. He also found an error of refraction—a slight farsighted condition—but said this would not cause the strange reaction.

Dr. A. L. Osterman, prominent Wheeling, W. Va., psychiatrist, given a word description of the condition, said the case appeared to be one of congenital deficiency, caused by transposition of the brain centers.

THE RESCUE

Millionaire Jones was recalling the struggles of his youth.

"I was living in California, and my parents in New York," he said, "and I had just saved enough money to buy myself a bicycle when my father wrote that my mother was ill.

"I jumped on my bicycle and rode across the continent, only to be told that California air was all that would save my mother.

"So I dragged the bike in beside the bed, let the air out of the tires, and she lived to the good old age of 95."

Though we are all brothers under the skin, finding it out sometimes smarts terribly.

Often a political situation seems absolutell clear until a radio commentator gets hold of the threads.

Two New Army Corps Created

(International News Service)

BERLIN, Oct. 2.—Germany today created two new army corps, completing the expansion of the army to twelve corps with a total of 500,000 men, as provided in the treaty-smashing Nazi government declaration of March 16, 1935.

The two new corps, it was announced officially, will have headquarters at Coblenz and Hanover.

The half million men of the regular army represent a body of highly-trained, specialized soldiers, while the Reich in addition has available for an armed force additional hundreds of thousanhs of men which could be put in the field on short notice.

Politics is not a career. It is an incurable disease which has left many men crippled for life.

Fall Rally Of Presbyterial Is Thursday Event

Several Hundred U. P. Church Women Confer At New Galilee Church

MEET NEXT TIME AT NEW BRIGHTON

Thursday's fall rally of the Beaver Valley Presbyterial at Rocky Springs church in New Galilee was attended by an exceptionally large crowd. It is estimated that there were over 200 women there, representing United Presbyterian churches from all parts of the presbyterial. Several automobile-loads attended from each of the New Castle churches.

The printed program was followed closely. In the morning there was an executive board meeting, devotions led by Mrs. T. E. Graham, of Ambridge, a message from the president of the presbyterial, Mrs. J. E. Caughey, of Ellwood City, reports from secretaries, and reports from the W. H. M. S. convention by Mrs. Thomas Davies, of the First church, New Castle and Mrs. C. D. Minick, of the Second church.

In the afternoon a talk on "The Negro" was given by Mrs. Joseph McFerron, of Beaver Falls, suggestions for the use of the study books were offered by Mrs. Garman Johnson, of Center U. P., and talks were given by Mrs. Gilmore, of College Hill and Mrs. Frank Gross, of Ellwood City.

The missionary address, unusually interesting and inspiring, was made by Mrs. J. G. Campbell, of India, and the temperance address was made by Attorney R. L. Wallace of Highland church, New Castle. Rev. W. W. Willis, Rocky Springs, pastor, gave the benediction.

Mrs. T. E. Gilkey, of New Castle, vice president of the presbyterial, presided during the afternoon. Music was offered by the Rocky Springs choir.

The women approved the plan of sending two auditors to the foreign missionary fields and voted to give it all the financial help that it can.

The spring rally will take place in the New Brighton church, it was decided.

State Treasury Balance Large

Recent Sale Of Tax Anticipation Notes Swells Funds In Treasury

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Oct. 2.—Because of the recent sale of the $45,000,000 issue of tax anticipation notes, the commonwealth's general fund as of September 30 has swelled to $29,679,940.15—largest balance since December, 1933, State Treasurer Charles A. Waters had revealed today.

The general fund balance as of August 30 was $2,329,336.60 and as of September 30, 1935, was $8,293,777.06, it was pointed out.

Approximately half of the $45,000,000 issue which was settled September 28 was earmarked for state institutions and school districts, while the remainder will take care of relief needs until January 1. Thus, Waters explained, discounting the tax anticipation note issue, the treasury balance sheet changed little since August.

The reasury report showed a total balance of all funds of $72,173,919.74, compared with $45,087,943.37 August 31.

Cost Of Beauty Varies, Expert Tells Young Men

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Pa.—What do women pay to be beautiful and attractive; how much do they pay for those lovely, curling eyelashes, that soft skin, and those sleek waves in their hair?

Upsetting the dope bucket, Frances A. McMullen, international beauty expert, attending the national convention of hairdressers and cosmetologists here, answered the question which so often occupies the mind of young American manhood thus:

"The price of beauty is variable. The business girl and average woman can keep herself well-groomed for as little as two dollars a week.

"Some society women pay over $1,000 a year for their beauty treatments.

"But rest assured, the little girl who spends her two dollars a week average can look just as trim and just as well groomed as the woman who is spending $25 a week for the same.

"The society or richer woman is paying the difference in atmosphere and better comforts of the beauty shop, not the treatments.

"Beauty treatments, in my opinion, are no longer a luxury, but a necessity. This business of good looks is highly competitive with women, and it has become a pre-requisite to be well-groomed."

Shaw Is Slumping On Book Market

(International News Service)

LONDON—Bad news for 80-year-old George Bernard Shaw. He is slumping on the book market.

Borough librarians report there is "diminishing interest" in Shaw's works. Second-hand booksellers reveal there is very little demand for Shaw first editions.

"Shaw seems to be going out," said one of the most prominent second-hand booksellers here.

The Irish wit and playwright has one consolation—he is in distinguished company. Rudyard Kipling and H. G. Wells books are sharing the same fate.

THE PARENT PROBLEM

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

DOMINEERING ATTITUDES

Call to mind all the wives of executives or foremen you have known. Think of them as you last saw them with their respective husbands, especially in the home. Who dominated, or tried to dominate, as a rule?

Now the same wife who is very meek toward the lordly husband may herself be very lordly toward other women—as a kind of unconscious compensation.

If my observations have been correct, school principals and superintendents excell in a domineering attitude toward their wives. The suffering of the subservient wife is most severe when, as often is the case, she has less academic training or fewer degrees than her husband—no matter about her native mentality which may well surpass his. And I wonder if the woman principal who marries doesn't generally choose a meek man.

Probably preachers are just as bad as schoolmen, if not worse. The daily work, both of school executives and preachers, renders them a kind of hub. They are continually reminded of their importance, and when they arrive home how are they to forget it?

Also this dominating attitude toward the wife seems to run high in doctors, lawyers and others whose profession consists of telling others what to do. There are, of course, many exceptions. An occasional executive, indeed, on arriving home, will play the role, symbolically, of a scrubwoman there.

Carries Habit Into Home

Yet those who are excessively domineering in their homes are merely carrying over a normal "business" practice into the family situation which, for greatest happiness, is not adaptable to this practice. It is possible, of course, that executive jobs select dominating persons to begin with, in which event the wife must have desired that sort of personality for a husband. Whether she thought she did or not, if she now suffers form subservience, she should try to be charitable toward her husband. She should not charge him with bad motives. Rather she should calmly and generously conclude: "That's just the way the animal acts." Then she should make the most of it and resolve not to feel subservient but to be herself. She might even have a sense of humor keen enough to see how very funny his behavior is, and how funnier still that she should have been vexed by his childishness.

If any executive-husband believes that he naturally is disposed to be too bossy at home he might be able, if he cared to do so, to reduce his bossiness.

Maybe I'm all wrong. I wonder what have been your observations. Why not write them to the editor of this paper? Undoubtedly he would like to print them.

Now if there be any sense to my theory it should have some significance in the rearing of our children. Can we train them so that if they become executives they will also play a fifty-fifty role as wives or husbands?

Man Vanquishes Woman In Field She Once Ruled

DETROIT, Mich.—Probably for the first time in the history of modern civilization man has conquered woman in the field of speech.

Archie Campbell of this city, is the victor, and Sophie Ballots, the defeated member of the opposite sex.

Campbell, a next door neighbor of the Ballots, complained in Circuit Court of alleged excessive noise which emanated from their home at night.

As a consequence Sophie Ballots was placed under a temporary injunction of Judge James E. Chenot restraining her from speaking above a whisper between the hours of 10 p. m. and 7 a. m.

Men Are Warned Against Kissing Without Leave

(International News Service)

LONDON—British males have been warned not to kiss any lady of any age without her permission.

Even a harmless peck on the cheek, given to a girl aged four without her consent may lead to a court case, the men have been told.

It all came about when Frank McCullough, Dundee, Scotland picked up a child who asked him for a penny, kissed her, gave her the penny—and found himself before the Procurator-Fiscal in Dundee Sheriff's Court accused of common assault.

Sheriff Malcolm heard it all and admonishing McCullough, handed down a Solomon-like judgment.

"Even young ladies may object to being kissed without their permission," he said. "My warning to you is not to kiss any lady of any age without her consent."

Lawyers hastily brushed up their law books and found that kissing a girl without her permission is common assault. They queried, however, whether in legal parlance a child of four could give her consent, and figured it might need a high court decision to settle that.

BICYCLE RIDING NURSES LIKELY FOR EFFICIENCY

(International News Service)

DETROIT—It may not be long before a vision of a petite nurse, uniform fluttering in the breeze as she rides through the streets on a bicycle, will be a common sight here.

This method of transportation in Detroit, the city of automobiles, was urged by Dr. Henry F. Vaughan, commissioner of health, when he requested $400 for purchase of bicycles.

"By employing the lost art of bicycling we hope to double the efficiency of public health nurses," Dr. Vaughan said.

"Nurses doing field work in outlying districts often have to travel four or five miles on buses from one house to another, when two points are really only one-half mile apart.

"We had previously requested automobiles, but to no avail. We think, however, that nurses can double the amount of calls they are able to make in a day with the use of bicycles for transportation."

HAMBUL—All other methods of dealing with stray dogs having failed, the municipal authorities here have now put a price on their tails.

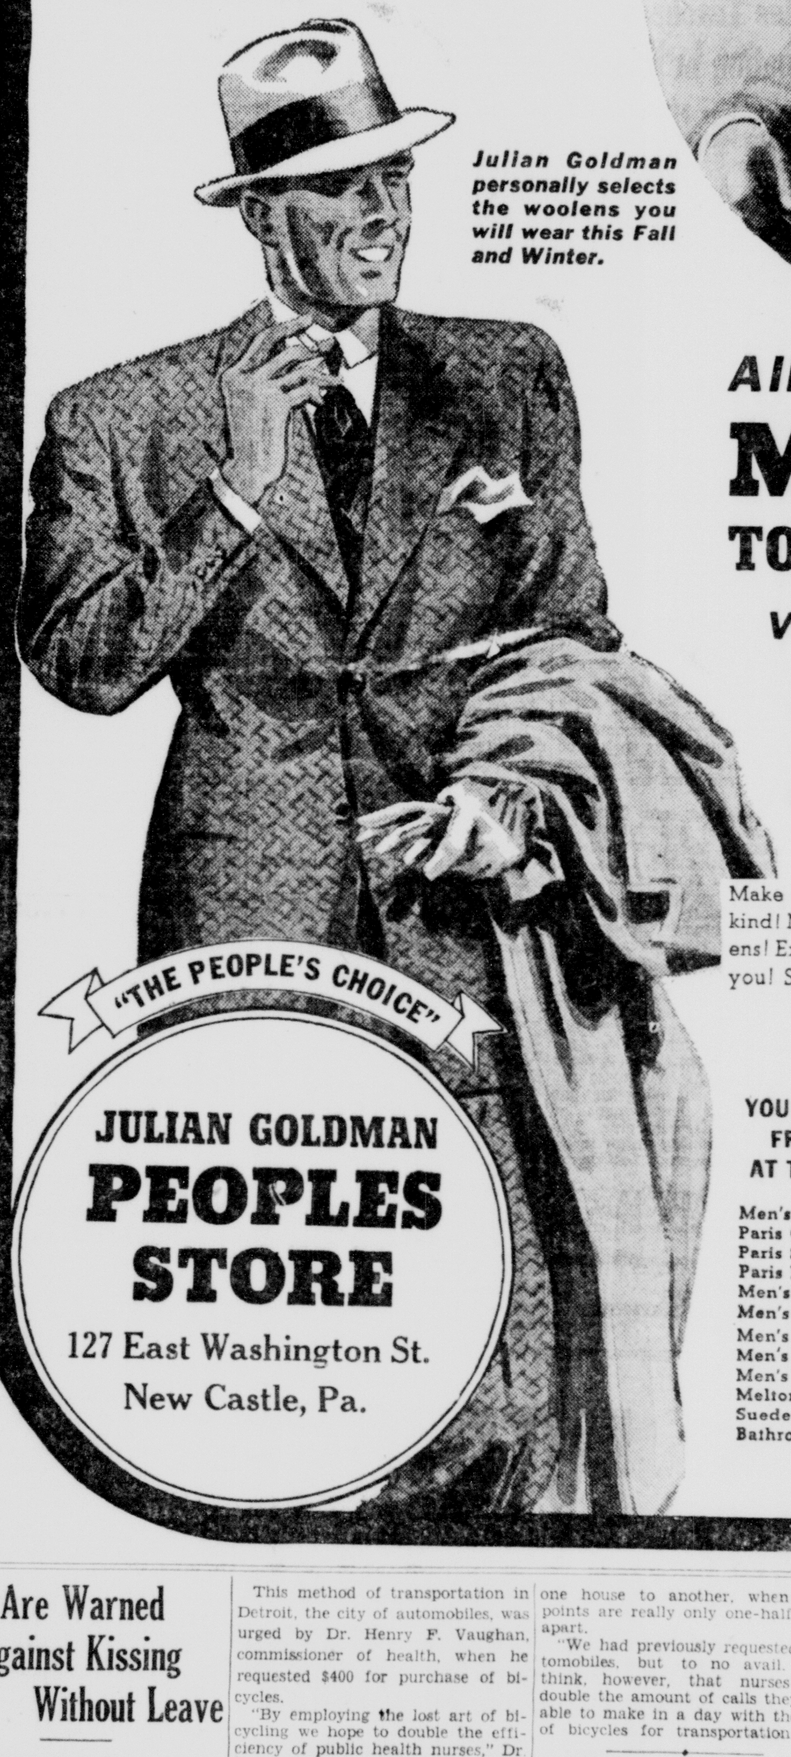

In future everyone who takes a dog's tail to the nearest police station will be suitably rewarded. Poison, shooting and other methods of destruction have been tried in an effort to get rid of large packs of stray dogs which have invaded the fashionable quarters of the city, but in vain.

ELLWOOD HIGH TO MEET ROCHESTER

Ellwood Wolverines To Meet Tough Opponent In Valley Eleven Here Saturday

LOCALS WITHOUT TWO VALUABLE PLAYERS

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 2.—Coach Ernie Myers and his Rochester High eleven invade Ellwood City Saturday afternoon determined to avenge the worst beating his team had taken the past season when the Wolverines won handily by a score of 32-6. The kick-off at Lincoln field is slated for 3:15 p. m.

Rochester, enthused with their 20-12 upset victory over a strong Midland team last week plans to take the Ellwood High Wolverines into camp. Back this year with a veteran team the Myers men displayed their strength in their first game of the season by holding Aliquippa to a 13-6 score. Aliquippa won in the final quarter of the game. They hit their stride last week against Midland. Rochester features a hard plunging fullback in Catanese and a clever passer and ball carrier in Peasenelli.

What the locals will have most to fear is a clever and accurate passing attack. Two teams have been unable to stop the Rochester aerial game. So Coach Bill Mitchell and Assistant Dutch Croft spent much time this week in preparing a defense for this. The locals hope to intercept a few of these to their advantage. All week the coaches have been breaking in a pair of running backs which became necessary with the injury to Bill Young, pile-driving fullback and spark plug of the team who is also its chief ground gainer. With Young went an invaluable ball carrier and passer. So this necessitated the promotion of Jack Snare, a clever and shifty halfback from the second team who is a triple threat man. With him was promoted Myers at fullback to do the line plunging and blocking. This thus dropped Galati to the second team because of the situation created by Young's injury. Snare has looked good in the practice sessions. He not only is a shifty ball carrier but a hard runner as well. Myers showed great improvement in line plunging. With Funari back at quarterback this gives the Ellwood backfield three fine ball carriers. Left end Jim Flanagan who has not been in uniform all week since his knee injury at Uniontown, has been replaced by Blaine. Blaine played a stellar game last week and has stood out in the practice sessions and scrimmages this week. There is not much worry in this position. The remainder of the line-up will be the same as before according to Coach Mitchell.

The probable line-up:

Ellwood		Rochester	No.
72 Blaine	L. E.	McCracken	29
85 H. Young	L. T.	Cordez	19
83 Kellar	L. G.	Halshill	14

Explains Teachers Situation In Kansas

Assert Politicians Mis-informed Public On Matter In Campaign Speeches

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 2.—A question that had been a political football for sometime in this campaign was given definite light when Mrs. Robert E. Callahan, of Glen avenue, received a letter from Topeka, Kan., explaining the teachers' situation there.

The letter and a number of phamplets were received by Mrs. Callahan giving full particulars on the Kansas schools.

The letter and phamplets were discussed by the Ladies' Landon-Knox club of this city Wednesday afternoon.

The letter is as follows:

ALF M. LANDON
GOVERNOR OF KANSAS
TOPEKA
September 24, 1936

Mrs. Ethel Lackey Callahan
430 Glen Avenue,
Ellwood City, Pennsylvania.

Dear Mrs. Callahan:

In the absence of Governor Landon, I wish to acknowledge receipt of your kind letter addressed to him and to thank you for your interest.

Teachers' salaries in Kansas for the school year ending June, 1935, averaged $773.31 per year for 17,102 teachers. The average school year in Kansas is a little less than nine months. This is an increase over the previous year when the average was $761.79.

Teachers' salaries are fixed by local boards and superintendents. The governor is in no way responsible for the salaries paid. Of course, legislation which Governor Landon recommended, encouraged school districts to balance their budgets and reduce expenses. However, a careful check of facts reveals Kansas schools have not been handicapped by any of this legislation. The records also show teachers' salaries in Kansas have been reduced less than the income of other wage earners, including sales personnel and professional people since 1931. Employment in Kansas for 1935 was 25 per cent below that for 1931, while the employment of teachers was 98 per cent plus. The opposition is extremely unfair in its attack against Governor Landon on this point.

I am enclosing herewith a circular of recent issue which will give you correct and complete details on this important subject.

Again thanking you, and with best wishes, I am

Very truly yours,
WILLARD MAYBERRY,
Secretary.

Rotarians Hear Interesting Talk About Seeing Eye

Local Blind Minister Tells Of Great Aid Given Blind By Police Dogs

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 2.—In the absence of President F. E. Moore, vice-president H. W. Smith presided over the weekly meeting of the Ellwood City Rotary club in the First Presbyterian church on Thursday evening.

"Bob" Shearer was introduced to the club as a new member and given a hearty welcome. Birthday greetings were extended to Lowell Monroe and Ray Dew by Harold Burns. Since they were August boys the intimation was gently given that they were "hot babies." Jack Zeigler was introduced by Erle Yahn as the new scoutmaster of the Rotary troop.

The program of the evening was in charge of Erle Yahn who introduced as the speaker of the evening the Rev. Loy Sumner. Mr. Sumner gave a most interesting and informing address on "The Seeing Eye." He said the "Seeing Eye" was the best thing being done for blind people at the present time, the great value of it being that it restored independence and self respect to the blind person. Four fifths of our blind people become blind after they are twenty one years of age. Losing the sight is a severe experience. A few sharp bumps and sad failures to do for himself has a strong tendency to cause the blind man to give up. The trained German police dog to be the "seeing eye" for the blind man restores the ability to do for himself, to enable the blind man to go about independ of any other person. This is ever so much better than to have another person act as the seeing eye.

Mr. Sumner told of the development of this work, saying that it was one of the good things which came out of the World War. Dogs were used in the war for various purposes. Many soldiers were blinded. They began the training of the dogs to serve the blind soldiers. A Mrs. Dorothy Harrison Eustis pioneered this work in America. At first there were schools in Nashville and Pittsburgh, later it was centered in Morristown, New Jersey. It was just a year ago to the day, October 1, 1935, that Mr. Sumner went to Morristown to get his dog and to learn the new ways of getting about. The course of training was for a month and was the hardest thing he ever did, as he expressed it. It embraced learning the dog, the special technique of going about with the dog, to use one's own head, to note and memorize immediately every detail in the geography of a new community, to become self reliant. The training of the dog begins when the pup is four months old, the alpha and omega of which is to learn obedience. After three months he is given a test. If he passes with a good grade he is then assigned to a blind person. The instructor matches dog and person as best he can. After the course of training at the school the blind person brings his dog home and continues work at home and passes his final test in the home community. He is then required to report once a month for a year.

WASHINGTON AT A GLANCE

Reopen Debt Question Now

Settlement On Huge Sums Owed United States Will Be Discussed

EXPECTED AFTER STABILIZATION

Central Press
Washington Bureau
602 Times-Herald Bldg.
By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—When equalization of their monies was agreed on by the American, British and French governments, followed by the acquiescence of the governments of several smaller countries in the compact, it immediately was predicted by financial experts in Washington that a reopening of international discussions concerning a settlement of Europe's war debts to the United States speedily would ensue.

And already rumors are afloat that Treasury Secretary Morgenthau shortly will suggest another conference on the subject with every prospect that London and Paris readily will accept the Yankee invitation.

The nub of the argument is that big powers obviously want to put their respective currencies upon such a mutual basis as to put an end to violent fluctuations in exchange rates, but that they cannot accomplish it by their recent bargain alone; the uncertainties of the war debt problem also will have to be eliminated to complete the job.

DEBTS, TOO, TO BE SCALED?

Incidentally, American recognition of its debtors' scaling down of the values of their various monies opens the way for the debtors folk to claim the right to liquidate their loans in a cheaper kind of cash than the sort they borrowed.

The devalued total, in short, should amount to a reduction of about 30 per cent.

Not that anyone is optimistic enough to believe that Europe (excepting Finland, which meets its obligations regularly) ever will pay, even in devalued money, 70 per cent of what it still owes to Uncle Sam.

But devaluation of currencies is so confusing and accountancy can be made so mysterious that the two, combined, perhaps can be so "doctored" as to convince the American public that it is getting its dues, whether it is or not. And then the Washington administration will be in a position to say, "Well, we're collecting at last."

A SENATORIAL VIEW

The late Senator Robert B. Howell of Nebraska, who, as an actuarial wizard, was one of the best informed men in Washington as to the war debt, repeatedly assured me, "The dicker we subscribed to just after the world conflict canceled every cent of the principal pledged to us, leaving the allies to pay only the interest. Now they want to pay only part of that.

"Conversationally it may not appear so, but it is evident upon computing interest rates over a period of 60 years."

The deliberate juggling of arithmetic, the senator insisted, was what had deceived the average American, who imagined a fair compromise had been arrived at. He had whole pages of figures to prove it. I did not understand them, but we never had a more honest senator. I believed every word he said.

NOT A PARTY ISSUE

It is not much of an issue, as between parties.

Accountancies were juggled by Republican negotiators in President Harding's and President Coolidge's days.

The trouble is that they were not juggled sufficiently.

Today they need some more juggling by Democrats.

TAKE WHAT WE CAN GET?

It may be sensible.

If a debtor can pay only so much on the dollar, perhaps it is better to take that than nothing.

Debts are involved. Exchange is involved. Tariffs are involved.

The whole thing seems a hopeless jumble.

'Dwarf Deer's' Horns Excite Winsted, Conn.

(International News Service)

WINSTED, Conn.—Winsted, long and far-famed as the home of unbelievable freaks of nature, has slipped something over on itself.

For six weeks a Winsted newspaper exhibited in its window the horns of a "dwarf deer" brought by Charles E. Barnum of West Hartford, a distant relative of the famous P. T. Barnum, and a summer resident in Winsted.

Barnum declared he had just returned from Bolivia where he slew the animal. The exhibit measured a few inches in length, and half that in width. It was obvious that a deer, to have horns that size, could be no longer than a house cat.

But during the weeks the exhibit remained on display, there were rumors regarding its authenticity started by someone whom Barnum identified as himself.

So the story came out, and so did the exhibit. Instead of being the horns of a dwarf deer, the exhibit was nothing more than the breastbone of a tame goose which had graced the Barnum table.

Funeral Service Leads To Jail

(International News Service)

BERLIN—Fifteen members of the forbidden "Society of Earnest Bible Research" have been sentenced to terms of imprisonment ranging from one year to two months at Bielefeld, West Germany.

They were arrested—with eight other men—for taking part in a funeral at which one of them acted as a lay preacher.

Refusal of members of the society to join the army came up for discussion during the trial.

The son of one of the arrested men, it was disclosed, had been sentenced to several years' imprisonment for having refused to serve his year of military service.

Serving in the army was against the religious convictions of their organization, his father told the judge.

Juvenile Crime Starts Hunt For English Fagins

(International News Service)

LONDON.—Belief that master criminals are working behind the scenes training children as in the days of Fagin and Bill Sikes is held by authorities in view of an alarming increase in juvenile crime in England.

Magistrates, police and probation officers are investigating the problem. Suspicion is thrown on the old "fences" because of the nature of crimes that youngsters are committing.

In 1934, last year for which official figures are available, 8,898 children under 14 and 6,796 children between 14 and 17 were found guilty of larceny, and 2,374 and 1,477 respectively of breaking into property.

Of the larcenies, thefts from stores of pedal cycles, and from unattended vehicles and automatic slot machines formed a big proportion.

All the approved schools and homes in the country are overcrowded, and a number of candidates for them are boarded out pending admission. Increased accommodation is being hurriedly provided by the erection of further institutions to house young criminals.

Ancient Fabric Of Roman Days Is Rediscovered

(International News Service)

TARANTO, Italy—A textile fibre dating back to biblical times, whose manufacturing secret had been lost through the ages has been rediscovered by an Italian school teacher.

The ancient thread, known as "bissus" is extracted from a tiny shellfish, the "Pinna-Nobilis." According to Miss Rita Del Bene, the discoverer bissus yields a fabric similar to wool by means of a simple chemical process.

The ancients however, wove a silk like fabric from the marine-mollusk which though more beautiful was not as strong as the "fish wool" produced by the school teacher.

The Ionian Coast produced large quantities of bissus and in the days of the ancient Roman Republic, galleys from Taranto brought it to all the markets on the Mediterranean.

Miss Del Bene revealed her process to the Ministry of Agriculture, but it has not been disclosed to the public.

'Non-Stop' Midgets Have A 'Tiny Tour'

JOHANNESBURG, Transvaal.—Thirty of the smallest people in the world will stay in specially constructed miniature village during the Empire Exhibition here.

Tom Thumb, who claims to be the smallest man in the world—he is 2 feet 4 inches high—will have a special cottage.

The village will have all the amenities of a small town; houses, a town hall, club, restaurant—all in miniature, and a theatre seating 200 people.

The midgets who are to inhabit "Tiny Town" range in height from 2 feet 4 inches to 3 feet, and their ages run from 16 to 39. They are all accomplished performers and will give a non-stop variety show in their own theatre.

BRONCHOSCOPE AIDS PHYSICIANS

(International News Service)

DENVER—The bronchoscope, an instrument by which physicians peer into the windpipe of human lungs, is proving an aid in the war against tuberculosis.

"Sometimes it is difficult to differentiate between tuberculosis and alignant infections of the lungs and abcesses," Dr. Harry E. Kleinschmidt of New York, director of health education of the National Tuberculosis association, explained here.

"The bronchoscope might be described as a periscope which allows the physician to look into the patient's lungs."

Orators are too wordy. When they offer to 'do the people good' why drag in that last word?

Chinese Troops Move Northward

Will Set Up Strong Line Of Defense To Japanese Forces Along Yellow River

ULTIMATUM TO BE GIVEN CHINA

By JAMES R. YOUNG
International News Service Staff Correspondent

TOKYO, Oct. 2.—More than 60,000 Chinese troops filed northward through Honan Province today to draw up a great line of defense against Japan along the Yellow river, while on Hokkaido Island in Japan Emperor Hirohito sat astride a black charger and watched 20,000 of his best troops stomp through maneuvers that gave point to Japan's demands on China.

Concrete evidence, in the form of mass Chinese troop movements, that Nanking will not kow-tow humbly to Nippon this time fomented resentment throughout Japan, and there were authoritative reports here that, if China does not speedily heed Tokyo's demands, they will be converted into an ultimatum by imposition of a time limit.

Reports Borne Out

These reports were borne out in the announcement that Foreign Minister Hachiro Arita is sending Kazuo Kuwashima, director of the East Asian department of the foreign office, to Nanking with special instructions for Ambassador Shigeru Kwagoe.

Kuwashima, the announcement said, will also assist the ambassador in "conveying Japan's real intentions" to the Chinese government.

The ultimatum, said to involve autonomy for the five northern Chinese provinces and appointment of Japanese political and military advisors for China, may take form when Ambassador Kwagoe meets Marshal Chiang Kai-Shek, dictator of China, within a few days.

Echoing the foreign office's repeated warning that the situation is "grave," Finance Minister Eiichi Baba ordered the country's finances put on a partial war basis.

Plan No Boost In Library Tax

Current Campaign Is For Investment, Not For Maintenance

STATEMENT TODAY CLARIFIES MATTER

No boost in the present Free Public library tax rate of one-half mill is anticipated, the library's board of trustees made it plain today in a statement prompted by an apparent misunderstanding which has developed as a result of the current library campaign to purchase the old post office for a new library home.

The formal statement, released by President Wylie McCaslin, declared:

"To correct what is wholly a misunderstanding in regard to the present library campaign for funds to purchase the abandoned post office building, the library trustees wish to state that no increase in the library tax rate of one-half mill is anticipated. This tax provides the maintenance fund only, while the campaign under way is for a building or capital investment.

"The property owner whose estate is assessed at $5,000 pays $2.50 a year for library maintenance and one who is assessed at 2,000 pays $1. You can easily figure it out at 50 cents on a thousand dollars.

"Unless you are assessed at $5,000 or more, your library tax does not equal enough to buy you a new book a year.

"This tax is not new or changing, but has been in effect since 1932."

Pennsylvania Congressman Passes Away

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Louis T. McFadden, 60, for 20 years a member of congress from Pennsylvania and former member of the house committee on banking and currency, was dead here today after ten days illness.

McFadden had been suffering from intestinal grippe, and had been removed from a mid-town hotel to a hospital a few hours before his death occurred last night. He had motored here last Wednesday from his home in Canton, Pa., accompanied by his wife and son, T. W McFadden, who were with him when he died. Coronary thrombosis was given as the direct cause of death.

As Republican chairman of the house banking and currency committee, McFadden came into national prominence toward the close of his congressional career by his attacks on "international bankers." He charged that President Hoover had failed to carry out congressional mandates against cancellation of war debts by the moratorium granted to debtor nations, and in 1932 sought the president's impeachment. This cost him his Republican patronage in Pennsylvania, and he was later voted out of important committee posts in the house.

Truck Hauling Famous Speed Boat Delayed Here

Delphine VIII, speed boat of Horace Dodge, Detroit multi-millionaire seems to have a jinx pursuing her. Thursday evening the truck hauling the boat from Washington, D. C. to Detroit cracked on axle on the Butler Road just in front of the Weingartner gardens.

The accident was just another in a series of mishaps that has befallen the boat. In a race on the Potamac river a few days ago the boat hit a concealed log and wiped off most of the bottom. The driver and mechanic escaped with their lives.

On Tuesday the boat was loaded on a trailer truck and started home. Some way out of Washington a bearing burned out. On Wednesday another one burned out and then the accident Thursday night when the axle cracked.

The boat is a handsome affair and is powered with a 16 cylinder engine. The approximate value of the craft is $50,000.

Denial Made That Mrs. Simpson Will Be Official Hostess

Buckingham Palace Hurries To Deny Published United States Reports

(International News Service)

LONDON, Oct. 2.—For the first time, King Edward's household issued an official denial today of a story published in the United States linking his name with that of Mrs. Wally Simpson, Baltimore matron who enjoys close friendship with the monarch.

The story hinted that now that Queen Mary, in the tradition of widowed English queens, has left Buckingham Palace and taken up residence at Marlborough House, Mrs. Simpson will be the official hostess at King Edward's informal Buckingham Palace dinners.

"The story," said Sir Godfrey Thomas, private secretary to King Edward, "is fantastic and a pure fabrication.

"There cannot be a word of truth in it because no arrangements have yet been made for his majesty's dinner parties.

"I authorize you to state Buckingham Palace has issued an official denial."

Outsiders are trying to "humanize" the war in Spain. It seems so awful to use dynamite instead of nice ethical poison gas.

Hit-Run Driver Kills Man And Injures Another

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Oct. 2.—An automobile traveling at high speed plowed into a group of young people today and, after the driver paused momentarily, sped away leaving one man dead and another injured.

Waldo Hilyard, 24, of Circleville, O., student at an electrical school, was the man killed. Injured about the neck was Charles McCracken, 36, of Chicago.

Hilyard was carried 30 feet on the bumper of the hit-and-run car.

Purchase Of Fine Fox Furs Starts Broadway Gossip

Believe King Edward Has Bought "Wally" Simpson, $50,000 Worth Of Furs

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Silver fox furs valued at $50,000, especially ordered by a wealthy and highly placed Englishman, were on their way to London today, and Broadway was betting that they were bought to swath the beautiful figure of Mrs. Ernest (Wally) Simpson.

Also, it was being whispered that King Edward himself was the purchaser, although the agent who shipped the furs declined to commit himself.

All told there were 13 fur pieces—the best the foxes of Wisconsin can provide, even for a king. There were four capes and nine wraps.

If King Edward didn't buy them as a token of esteem for "Wally," Broadway would like to know who did.

LITTER OF 26 PUPS MAKES NEW RECORD

BUDAPEST—A world record in puppies was beaten by Sultana, a white Hungarian shepherd dog in Kistarcsa, near Budapest. She surprised her owner, Joseph Takacs the village butcher, with a litter of 26.

Nineteen of the puppies had to be destroyed because the mother could not nourist them all. The former world record was 20 puppies born to an Alsatian in Germany.

Candid Japanese Diplomat Tells Aim Of Nation

(International News Service)

LOS ANGELES—One Japanese diplomat doesn't believe in dodging questions about the ultimate aims of his nation in China.

The diplomat is Viscount A. Toki, who expects to spend several weeks in Washington before departing for Hungary on September 15.

Asked about Japan's objectives in China, Viscount Toki observed:

"There are three nations which must expand or their people will perish. They are Germany, Italy and Japan.

"Our people are too numerous for our small national confines. So what follows? Larger lands, housing vastly smaller populations must absorb our surplus peoples. We do not wish to do this through aggression, but—".

On Court House Hill

During the month of September 79 marriage licenses were issued at the prothonotary's office, comparing with 104 issued during the month of August.

Judge James A. Chambers and W. Walter Braham will hold a session of court on Saturday morning at which defendants who were convicted or who pleaded guilty at the present term of quarter sessions court just closed will be sentenced.

In the case of Esther Myers against Celia Rabinovits, executrix in the estate of the late Attorney Mark L. Rabinovitz, Judge James A. Chambers has handed down an opinion in which a rule to show cause why judgment should not be stricken off is discharged, and the sheriff is directed to proceed with the execution of a writ.

Cases which were to have been tried at the September term of court and which were continued until the December term are as follows: John Glassi, possessing liquor unlawfully acquired; James Braden Bookamer, operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor; Mike Latsko, violation of the pure food act; J. A. Findley, operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor, and Steve Zucco, felonious assault and battery.

In the case of May V. Aiken, use of Pearl Mayberry against James Mayberry and Pearl Mayberry, Judge W. Walter Braham has handed down an opinion in which a demurrer to the rule to show cause why an amendment should not be allowed, is overruled. The petition to amend the parties plaintiff in the judgment to be William L. Aiken, administrator in the estate of May V. Aiken, now to the use of Pearl M. Mayberry, instead of May V. Aiken, is allowed, and the petition to decree judgment null and void and to strike same from the record and stay proceedings upon a scire facias to revive the lien of the judgment is refused and discharged.

This is the last month during which county taxes can be paid at face, according to County Treasurer Joseph H. Hartland. Usually penalties are added September 1st, but the county ocmmissioners extended for two months time during which taxes could be paid at face. Taxes have been coming in better this year than last, but there is still a large amount unpaid.

Electors have only one more day on which to register to be eligible to vote at the November election. Registration clerk, Thomas Edmunds had the bureau open last night. It will be open again tonight and tomorrow night. There have been repeated warning that October 3rd is the last registration day, and if there are any who fail to register they have no one but themselves to blame.

Another week has almost passed and still nothing has been done toward a survey of the Youngstown hill road, but this has not been the fault of the county commissioners. They have been awaiting an engineer from the state highway department who has not yet shown up. Word has been received that he will be here next week. The engineer is expected to show property owners where the road line would be if the three lane traffic road is extended to Parkstown corners.

Concrete work on the road north of the Edenburg viaduct has all been finished and machinery has been moved to the south side of the river, where concrete work is now in progress. This is all filled in ground, but a heavy roller kept going over it while the filling was being done, and it is claimed that it will not sink.

Staple Foods Prices Higher

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—While the U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics has stated food supplies will be only three per cent less for this year than for last year, despite the drought, prices of staple foods are 69 per cent higher than a year ago.

This was revealed today by a report of the bureau's crop reporting board, notwithstanding a line in the report to the effect that wholesale prices of food are 3.4 points lower than a year ago.

Prices at local markets received by farmers, on rice, potatoes, sweet potatoes, apples, butter, eggs, pork, beef, veal, lamb and mutton, and live chickens, and the retail price of milk, shows a net increase of 69 per cent, the board's report disclosed.

Meats Lower

The price of all meats except lamb is lower than a year ago, and eggs are reported lower. But potatoes, a chief staple food, are more than 100 per cent higher, and the price of rice, although the production of that crop this year is 17 per cent more than last, is almost double the price of last year.

The prices of various staple foods, as reported for September 15, last year, and for the same date this year, were given as follows:

Rice (bu.) 48.4 and 95.8; potatoes (bu.) 47.5 and 113.7; sweet potatoes (bu.) 74.1 and 101.7; apples (bu.) 69.3 and 80.1; butter (lb.) 25.7 and 31.0; milk (dt. retail) 9.7 and 10.4; eggs (doz.) 26.4 and 24.5; hogs (100 lbs.) 10.29 and 9.68; beef (100 lbs.) 6.41 and 5.88; veal (100 lbs.) 7.64 and 7.42; sheep (100 lbs.) 3.77 and 3.64; lambs (100 lbs.) 7.23 and 7.43.

Beginning tonight and continuing through Saturday and Sunday the Wesleyan Young People's Society and the Young Missionary Workers Band of Allegheny Conference will have a joint convention at the Wesleyan Methodist church of New Castle on Lyndal street.

The Allegheny Conference embraces Western Pennsylvania and Eastern Ohio. It has been estimated that around 200 young people will attend this convention.

"Evangelize" is the convention slogan and will be woven through the program.

Tonight's initial meeting will open at 7:30 o'clock. Invocation will be given by Rev. P. B. Campbell, of New Castle; welcome by Rev. J. L. Landrey, pastor of the host church, W. Y. P. S. president; response by Rev. E. DeWeerd Lupton, of Middlefield, O.; "Aim" by Rev. Georgia B. Markey, of Erie; and sermon by Rev. Roy S. Nicholson, of Kernersville, N. C.

Saturday morning will bring a watch service at 6:30, followed by organization and business. Rev. C. C. Cross, of Akron, O., Rev. Beulah Landrey, of New Castle, and Rev. Oneida Gleason, of Falconer, N. Y., will be on the program, and Rev. Roy S. Nicholson will give the address.

Saturday afternoon Rev. Jos. B. Markey, of Erie, will lead the song service. Talks will be given by Rev. Catharine Carr, of Asheville, N. Y., and Rev. J. R. Swauger, of Sandy Lake.

The program will continue Saturday evening and all day Sunday.

Voting Machines For All Counties

Secretary David L. Lawrence Approves Of Voting Machines For Use This Fall

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Oct. 2.—Voting machines in all counties that desire them were seen as possible today following announcement by Secretary of the Commonwelth, David R. Lawrence, that an arrangement has met with his approval.

The voting machine set up, he said, will have provision for straight party levers for Republicans, Democratic, Socialist, Prohibition, Communist, Industrial Labor, and Royal Oak parties, he said.

"Unfortunately, due to the unprecedented number of pre-empted mushroom political groups, it was impossible to give straight party levers to all parties and appellations but every group nominating candidates for president and vice president did have such a party lever," he said. "This arrangement is the only arrangement which can be used, providing for such a set-up as nearly as possible in accordance with the ballot set-up and still permit the use of voting machines."

Sketch Floor Plans For Spacious Library

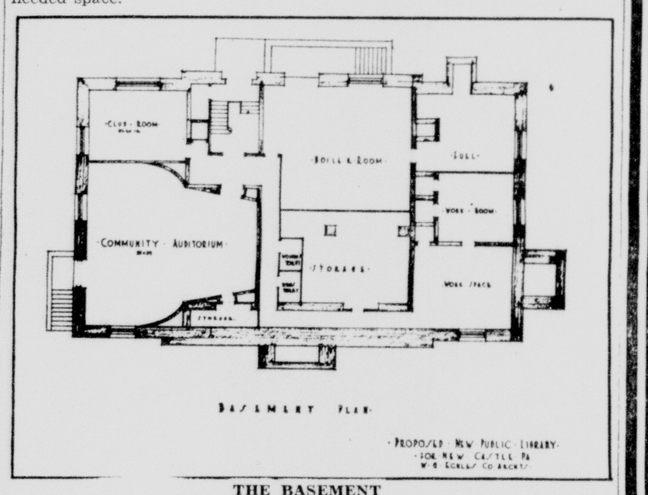

THE MAIN FLOOR

Here, right from the architect's pen, is the proposed layout of the main floor of the new library to be established in the old post office building at North and North Mercer streets—for which a $30,000 campaign is under way today. The lobby is large and you'll see the reading room and all will be roomy.

THE SECOND FLOOR

Above is the second floor sketch with the children's rooms, reference room, historical room and others—a fine place for school folk to mingle in a modern library atmosphere. All the proposed rooms will offer much-needed space.

THE BASEMENT

It's in the basement where the architect has planned a community auditorium, club space and other important rooms. What an excellent meeting place that hall would be, and you'll see there's an entrance to it from the outside.

Officers of the three Y. W. C. A. business girls clubs were installed Thursday evening at a dinner-meeting in the third floor dining room.

Forty-seven members of the three clubs were present for the impressive occasion. Mrs. Mildred Weisbaker Porter was installed to the presidency of the Blue Triangle club, Miss Ann Burgo, of the Square Circle and Miss Nadyne Connor of the Good Will Graduates.

Mrs. Alice McKillop, new chairman of the business and professional girls department of the association, was introduced to the group. Miss Dorothy Stewart, club secretary of the Y. W. C. A. was in charge. The impressive service had been written by Misses Jessie Jenkins, Marie Palusak and Mrs. Rose Sacripant Mooney.

It was announced by Miss Stewart that swimming classes will be available at the Ben Franklin school Tuesday or Wednesday evenings. Among the other classes suggested the largest enrollments were received by those in interior decorating, political science and dramatics. Teachers will be secured, Miss Stewart says, and the classes will start next Thursday night at 8:30. They will be open to all women and girls, not only of the Y. NEW CASTLE-BEAVER FALLS PLAY HERE TONIGHT

LOCALS ON EDGE FOR FOURTH GAME

New Castle High "Red Hurricane" Ready For Third Class AA Conference Battle; Beaver Falls Will "Shoot Works" Against Major Foe; DeCaprio May Not Get In Game; Bridenbaugh May Change Lineup For Tonight; Kickoff At 8 P. M.

Football relations severed back in the fall of 1928, some eight years ago, will be renewed here tonight when Coach Frank Walton leads his band of ferocious Tigers of Beaver Falls High School into Taggart Stadium to do battle with a "Red Hurricane" grid machine representing New Castle High School. The kickoff at 8 p. m. should find the stands well filled.

The big gates of Taggart Stadium will swing open at 7 o'clock. The turnstiles will start their merry clicking. By game-time a goodly crowd will no doubt have gathered, providing the weatherman is nice. Two highly trained and eager schoolboy elevens will trot out on the velvety green carpet to entertain the fans.

Seek Number Four

With three victories in the "bag" ready for delivery to the W. P. I. A. L. heads later in the year, New Castle High "Red Hurricane" will strive hard to upset the Beaver Falls Tigers and ring up the third Class AA conference win. The Tigers promise to be very tough to upset however. Walton, former Pitt star, has driven the Fallians hard this week. This is one game that Walton and all of Beaver Falls want to win.

It's the same thing every game here. There isn't a team that plays here that doesn't secretly cherish the hope that maybe they can defeat this New Castle "Hurricane." There have been some mighty fine teams try to do this very thing over the past 14 or so years, and few of them have succeeded, but for the most part the hopes are dashed by the New Castle steamroller.

Watch For Passes

It would not be surprising if Beaver Falls throws lots of passes tonight. Somehow the report has gotten around that New Castle cannot break up forwards and laterals. The Red and Black boys can expect a lot of passes this evening, (not free tickets either).

Head Coach Phil Bridenbaugh gave the New Castle boys a final looking at Thursday afternoon and pronounced them in good shape for the battle that awaits them at the hands of the Orange and Black of the valley. It's the old New Castle-Beaver Falls spirit for tonight and that means a tussle right down to the finish.

The only tear-drops in the New Castle dressing room are being shed for "Gabby" DeCaprio, the big lumbering fullback, who will more than likely be on the sidelines tonight with an injured neck. In his place will be Stan Kominic, the lad who gave a good account of himself last week. Outside of DeCaprio the New Castle lineup will be the same as started the Youngstown game, unless the "Old Fox" Phil decides at the last minute to make a few changes. Coaches have a habit of changing their minds quite as often as a woman.

Bands Will Play

The New Castle and Beaver Falls High bands will be on hand tonight. There should be lots of lively tunes. The band boys certainly add a lot to the occasion. The fans thoroughly appreciate this end of the program too, because after all what would a football game be without a band on the field tooting away on lively swing stuff, and going through those drills.

Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner used to big crowds by this time, is making plans to take care of another banner turnout tonight. It would not be surprising to see over 7,000 in the stands. Beaver Falls will send several hundred fans here. The valley folks follow their athletic teams in fine style. The entire western bleachers will be reserved for the Beaver Falls fans and students.

The game will be handled by Yans Wallace, Dr George McLaren, a former great fullback at Pitt, and by Andy Cutler, a former Pitt center.

To obviate disaster, it is no more than human to supplement the drought belt with suspenders.

LINEUPS-NUMBERS FOR TONIGHT

Titans Will Open Season Saturday

Mt. Union To Be Faced In Initial Game Of Season At New Wilmington

GAME TO START AT 2 O'CLOCK

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Oct. 2.—Coach George Roark will probably start three freshman in the Titans' first game of the season Saturday against the Mt. Union Purple Raiders of Alliance, O., in his first game as a Westminster coach.

With the failure of Susko, Struthers varsity guard, to return to school and the failure of Jones, varsity center, Lowellville, O., to return to the squad this year, Coach Roark will probably put Youkers and Holton, freshmen, into the forward line. Youkers captained the Butler high team last year. Melvin Miller, New Brighton frosh, may get one of the end assignments, with Laraway, Erie, former Titan back, at the other wing.

Starting tackles will probably be Butler, New Castle, varsity guard, and Lee Wright, Franklin. Both men are 200 pound linemen, and should give the Titan wall added drive. At the guard positions, Krulatz, Lyndora, varsity lineman, will probably work with Youkers.

In the backfield, Coach Roark will have two of last year's varsity, Bailey, Sharon, halfback; Mintz and Butler, at fullback. Bailey was the chief ground gainer for the Titans last year, with sweeping end runs and off tackle slices that often brought 15 to 20 yards at a go. Ed Brown, diminutive South Orange, N. J., end on last year's squad, will probably be shifted to the backfield to take Laraway's old position. Brown is fast, elusive, and has a surplus of fight. Laraway will probably be pulled back as a defensive back.

Harry Shoup, Bessemer, halfback, out last year with an ankle injury, will be added to the Titan backfield as the fourth probable starter. Shoup is fast, a hard runner, and a shifty back.

Other men who have been showing up well for the Titans are Betthole, Carnegie, tackle; Stan Lutton, freshman lineman from Buffalo, N. Y.; and Bill Wise, Bethlehem, back, also a freshman. Coach Roark has a squad of 35 men regularly on the field of which 15 are freshmen. The Titans will be at a disadvantage on reserve strength, not so much in numbers as in experience.

For the Purple Raiders, the backfield assignment will probably be given to Bucher, triple-threat back, at the quarter position; Yesso and Weis at the half positions; and Sickafoose, hard plunging back, at the fullback position. All except Yesso were in the backfield that furnished enough punch to defeat the Titans 25-0 last year.

The Ohio team will have a forward wall that will average close to 190 pounds, outweighing the Titans about 10 pounds to the man.

The Westminster-Mt. Union game will be called at 2 o'clock at New Wilmington.

HOW ABOUT A TEE?

Golfer: My lad, are you to be my caddie?

Caddie: Yes sir.

Golfer: And how are you at finding lost balls?

Caddie: Very good, sir.

Golfer: Well, look around and find one so we can start the game.

Laraway Will Play End For Titan Eleven

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Oct. 2.—Jack Laraway, former Erie East high star, will be in a new position on the Westminster Titans' eleven when they open the season Saturday against Mt. Union's Purple Raiders.

LARAWAY

For three years Laraway has played one of the wing backs on the Titan eleven; and has been highly valuable because of his defensive play. But Coach George Roark, new Titan mentor, moved Laraway to an end position this year to make room in the backfield for Ed. Brown, speedy, diminutive New Jersey back.

Laraway will probably play end on offense, and fade to the backfield on defensive plays. His presence on the Titan eleven will do much to stabalize the team, since Westminster lost heavily on varsity material with last year's graduating class.

Run Up 26 To 6 Count On Ohioans In First Game At Taggart Field

CIAZZA-SOWINSKI STARS OF BATTLE

Ben Franklin Junior High school football team opened the 1936 season yesterday afternoon at the Taggart stadium by taking the measure of a fighting Struthers, Ohio Junior high team, 26 to 6. Ciazza and Eddie Sowinski provided the thrills for the fans who watched the game.

Ciazza Goes 25-Yards

Franklin High scored in every period of the game and looked mighty impressive in doing so. The first period was not very old yet when Ciazza and Sowinski combined to carry the ball from the Franklin 40 yard line and by a series of steady plunges and end runs finally scored with Sowinski going over from the 5-yard stripe. In the second period Ciazza picked off a punt on his own 25-yard line and aided by fine blocking and interference raced 75 yards for the second touchdown for the Gillaspie coached machine. A new Franklin High team took the field.

Struthers scored in the second period on a lateral pass from Mestal to Floyd who raced 65 yards for the touchdown. The try for extra-point was blocked by the Franklin forward wall.

Sowinski Scores

Another Franklin touchdown was hung up in the third period when Ciazza heaved a pass to Sowinski good for a 25-yard gain to the Struthers five-yard mark and then Sowinski took it over on the next play. The fourth touchdown for Franklin

Local Golfers To Play Ellwood City Sunday Afternoon

Return Match Will Be Played By Sylvan Heights Players At Ellwood City

Sylvan Heights golfers will go to Ellwood City Sunday afternoon, where they will play a return match with the public links team of Ellwood on the municipal course at that place.

The Ellwood City players came here two weeks ago and were defeated by a point score of 34-14, but the match this coming Sunday will be much closer and it would not be surprising to see the Ellwood boys gain a victory as they will be playing on their home course, where a few strokes will make a great deal of difference.

The same players who took part in the match here will participate in Sunday's encounter.

New Castle Junior Varsity Team Wins

New Castle High School junior varsity team went to Bessemer on Thursday afternoon and defeated Bessemer High Reserves 15 to 0, with a fine running attack. The Bessemer team looked good on the defense.

Bessemer was unable to score a first down through the Junior varsity line.

Titan Captain

BAILEY

NEW WILMINGTON, Oct. 2.—Jim Bailey, varsity halfback from Sharon, has been named as captain for Coach George Roark's first game as Westminster coach, against the Purple Raiders from Mt. Union, who last year took the Titans into camp by a 25-0 score.

With the game on their home field, the Titans hope to remove the whitewash of the 1935 season.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Paul Kraynack, Ellwood City middleweight, received a fracture of the jaw in the first round of his bout with Keith Goodballet last night at East Liverpool and Referee Joe Tonti immediately stopped the fight. Ray Gray of New Castle won a technical knockout over Billy Bunton in the second round.

Pamela Barton, British titleholder and three Americans advanced to the semi-finals of the United States women's golf championship at Summit, N. J., yesterday. The Americans are Marion Miley, Lexington, Ky., Kathryn Hemphill, Columbia, S. C., and Maureen Orcutt Crews, Englewood, N. J.

Eight days from now the Lawrence County Sportsmen's association will hold their field day at the New Castle Fair grounds. All kinds of events for man and dog will be held.

Grove City Makes Ready For First Game Of Season

Two Freshmen Work In First String And Will Likely Start

(Special To The News)

GROVE CITY, Oct. 2.—Resting his squad since Wednesday, after more than two weeks of daily scrimmage, Coach Bill Amos is apparently set on the starting line-up that will open the Grove City College football season here Saturday, against Clarion Teachers. Two freshmen have been working in the first-string line-up that appears certain to start in the opening game.

Since scrimmage was abandoned, two teams have been drilling for two-hour periods on a series of eight fundamental plays, ironing out the kinks and building for smooth power.

Morie Patterson, Jamestown, N. Y., who reported as a fullback, was made into a right halfback in a last-minute shift. He weighs 180, is 6 foot, 1 inch tall. He has already won the punting job, and is a fair passer. At tackle, Joe DePrima, 230 pounds, also of Jamestown, is expected to win the starting tackle position from Ray Myers, although the Grove City boy has shown enough to share playing time with the freshman.

Patterson will be paired at halfback with Bob Shoch, 150-pound DuBois senior whose work has been outstanding for two years. Abe Mori retains his fullback post, and Mathis, one of last year's quarterbacks, has the edge on his competition and will start.

Fred Laderer of Evans City is to go in at right halfback, the position held last year by Ray Brunton, but the latter is to see plenty of action. At the other end, Lou Bibric, sophomore, gets the call. Nick Maddalena, tackle star last year as a freshman, is secure. Barnes and Jim Patterson draw the guard assignments, and Petach will start at center.

The Grovers anticipate a stiff opener with Clarion, but Amos hopes to look over many of his candidates, looking ahead to the hard game with W. & J. on the following Saturday.

Firemen And Bessemer To Meet Sunday

Dutch Hill And Dick Nord Selected As Opposing Hurlers

TITULAR SERIES NOW DEADLOCKED

Indications are the baseball championship of Lawrence county will be decided on the E & A field, Sunday afternoon when Bessemer, champions of the Lawrence County loop and Firemen of the Sixth ward, a stellar independent aggregation, clash in the fifth and deciding game of the series. Only a deadlock can prolong the series.

Jimmie Martin, manager of the league champs, intends to send Dick Nord to the hill. Dick holds one victory over the Firemen. Joe Zeigler, manager of the Fire Laddies, proposes to rely on his ace, Dutch Hill, who has turned in two wins over Bessemer. All the victories were earned on the teams home plots.

The last game, which was played on Lee Avenue field was interrupted in the eighth frame when a decision at first, ired the runner and he dashed across the field, to be tackled by an infielder. The umpire-in-chief did not reverse the decision which was one of judgment.

The tilt was delayed about 30 minutes and after the two players involved had been sent to the showers the game was resumed and the Firemen came through with their second victory. As a result both teams and fans are feverishly awaiting in the fifth and deciding game Sunday.

Will Try To Play Second Series Game

Hal Schumacher And Goofy Gomez Are Probable Starting Pitchers Today

HUBBELL PLANS TO PITCH AGAIN

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Since everything is being done here strictly on the half-shell, it must be stated that, after an unavoidable delay due to good weather, the noble experiment between the immovable force (correct), the Yankees, and the resistible body, the Giants, either will or won't be resumed in the second game of the 1936 world series this afternoon. It has been all so confusing thus far.

Yesterday, they called off the game with a tentative sun trying to do some business for itself. On Wednesday, they played in weather that would have postponed the Battle of Gettysburg.

Make Effort To Play

Today, however, an honest, solemn effort will be made to take the event out of the colored comics and over into rugged, homely drama, with a fair chance of success. The president of the United States, surrounded by his entourage, was expected to sit among the 50,000 or more attending the function. The weather forecast and, indeed, the early indications were most favorable. So was the build up for the ball game.

With Hubbell's 6 to 1 win on Wednesday and yesterday's blank, the second meeting loomed as probable pay-off or key-game of the series between this rather droll pair.

Hubbell Again

The Hubbell victory made the score 1 to 0 in games. The postponement made it certain that Hubbell will be able to pitch three times before it's over. The antics of the Yanks at the plate indicated that Hubbell can and possibly will win as many as he pitches. And the combination of all three meant this:

The Yanks must beat every other pitcher Will Terry nominates, or forfeit all chance for the championship.

Will Terry's nomination for today was Hal Schumacher, who beat the Senators in the second and fifth games three years ago and was the Giant No. 2 boy until he sore-armed himself into semi-oblivion this year. He reinstated himself with a well pitched game against the Boston Braves just before the close of the regular season last week.

Money Pitchers

Mr. McCarthy was to reply with L. McGooferty Gomez, another apostate of stardom. He was great for years, then terrible through the early season and pretty good again at the finish. In fact, rated off a lifetime, this pair would have to be called excellent "money" pitchers for this strictly money-game. But, rated off their 1936 performances, it would be more than mildly surprising if at least one of them didn't finish today.

For the sake of the Yankees, the man who gets the rest of the afternoon off had better not be Gomez, since this is positively one they can't afford to blow. Yesterday's postponement, in fact, was a bigger break for the Giants than Whitehead's catch of DiMaggio's liner in the eighth inning of the opener.

Probable Lineup

The probable batting order for the second game of the world series today is as follows:

Yankees—	Giants—
Crosetti, ss	Moore, lf
Rolfe, 3b	Bartell, ss
DiMaggio, cf	Terry, 1b
Gehrig, 1b	Lieber, cf
Dickey, c	Ott, rf
Selkirk, rf	Mancuso, c
Powell, lf	Whitehead, 2b
Lazzeri, 2b	Jackson, 3b
Gomez, p	Schumacher, p

Republicans Get Fined, Democrats Allowed To Go Free

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 2.—Magistrate Michael Stancati today looked over an assorted collection of drunks in police court. All were arrested at the Roosevelt rally in Forbes Field last night.

Twenty-six in the group wore Democratic emblems.

Three displayed Republican insignias.

The magistrate discharged all the Democrats and gave the three Republicans their choice of a $5 fine or five days in jail.

Terry Thinks Schumacher Is Due For Win

Giant Manager Will Send Schumacher To Face Yanks Today

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Here's Bill Terry sitting in John McGraw's old swival-chair...Outside in the clubhouse proper some of the Giants are playing cards...Others are working on income tax blanks...

McGraw's old room is unchanged except for a glass-enclosed wall motto bearing the one word "think" in letters a foot high...Terry put that one up himself...We took the hint as a starter...What did Bill think of the series now before the second game?...

Terry Confident

"I think," thought Bill out loud, "that Schumacher can beat the Yanks...otherwise I wouldn't start him...I think those odds they're quoting are cock-eyed...I think Fitzsimmons is a better pitcher right now than he ever was in his life...And I think if Schumacher and Fitz can both win I'll come back with Hubbell and wind it up if possible in four games..."

And did he think the day of idleness was a break for the Giants?...

"I think," he thought again, it was a break for everybody...But especially for me...Gives my legs a chance to rest...and I think that extra day's rest will do Hubbell more good than Ruffing...because I think he needs it more..."

Hubbell Modest

The day being thus dedicated to thought, we put a couple of queries to the winning battery, Hubbell and Mancuso...with this result...

"I think Hal and Fred can win," said the modest left hander... "They both had plenty of stuff in their last few starts...Hal's awful fast and if he can keep that sinker around their knees the Yanks will have lots of trouble..."

"And," added Gusty Gus Mancuso, "Fitz's knuckler won't be a soft touch for anybody..."

Hubbell admitted the extra days rest wouldn't do him any harm and said he thought he could pitch three games if he had to...

DOG FOOD CANNING BOON TO FARMERS

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG—Practical farmers can now see the value of dog fanciers.

There are more than 125 firms in the United States engaged in the packing or manufacturing of canned dog food, and indirectly, creating a market and better prices for livestock.

Horse meat was formerly the chief ingredient of these dog foods. Now the meats most generally used are packing-house by-products.

College Football Doings In Brief

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 2.—Rice institute's proverbially powerful grid machine steamed into Pittsburgh Thursday for the intersectional battle tonight with Duquesne. The Dukes, despite a week of driving workouts which their supporters believe have whipped the team into owl-taming shape, will take the field underdogs in the betting. The only change in the lineup from that which downed Waynesburg last week, according to present indications, will be the installation of Boyd Brumbaugh as Shifty Bill Dillon's running mate from the half posts. Last week Beto Vairo started with Dillon.

PITTSBURGH—A short and easy field practice and a last minute blackboard session ended Pitt's preparations Thursday for West Virginia. The Panthers will probably go into action with the same squad which last week started against Ohio Wesleyan and downed the battling Bishops 53-0.

PITTSBURGH—Heads up, and confident that this is the year they'll set Notre Dame's Irish back on their respective haunches, Carnegie Tech's plaid were to leave tonight for South Bend, where they tackle Elmer Layden's crew in a grid contest which will be the first of the current season for both aggregations. Coach Wally Steffen was undecided on the size of his travelling squad, and will wait until the last minute to make his final selections.

PHILADELPHIA—Penn's football players today were brushing up on team play, signals and perfection of pass and punting plays in preparation for Saturday's opening game at Franklin Field. Meanwhile, no indication was given by Head Coach Harvey Harman as to what lineup he planned to use against Lafayette.

PHILADELPHIA — Well satisfied with the attack that swamped center last week, "Pop" Warner today admitted he plans no offensive changes for Temple's battle with Mississippi tomorrow night. Warner, however, is reported to be toying with the idea of keeping his varsity backfield on the bench until the reserves move the oval into a position for a swift thrust at "Old Miss" goal.

LEWISBURG, Pa.—In the opinion of Edward E. (Hooks) Mylin, the Bucknell team which will take the field against Lebanon Valley here Friday night will be at least 35 per cent smoother than the one which opened the season against Ursinus. Mylin promises better blocking and a better pass defense this Friday.

Goodballet To Fight Ray Gray

Two Victors In East Liverpool Ring Matched To Battle Here

Following technical knockouts of Paul Kraynack of Ellwood City by Keith Goodballet of East Liverpool and Billy Bunton of East Liverpool by Ray Gray of New Castle, the winners were matched by Ed. Fritz at East Liverpool last night to appear in the boxing show to be held here one week from Monday night.

Goodballet is the fighter who stopped George Rocco in one round in this city. Realizing he has a tough fight before him Gray resumed training today.

There will be eight bouts at the amateur boxing show carded for the Arena Gardens, October 12.

FEED FOR LIVESTOCK

HARRISBURG — The nation's livestock feed supplies although much less than the 1928-34 five-year average, are in general more ample than two years ago when the severe drought forced the liquidation of large numbers of livestock.

Union High Is Defeated, 20-0

Ursuline High Trounces Scotland Laners In Game Played Thursday

SEVERAL HUNDRED WITNESS CONTEST

Union high school's blue and white clad football team opened its home season with a 20-0 defeat administered by a scrappy Ursuline high eleven of Youngstown. Several hundred persons watched the game at Union high field Thursday afternoon.

Henry Davis kicked off for Ursuline. McGrew carried the oval to the 30. Failing to make a substantial gain, Union elected to kick but the boot was partially blocked, Coyle, Ursuline end, falling on the oval on the 20. Hamilton tried the line but failed to gain. Davis made a yard through tackle. Lamb fought his his way through the Union wall for a three-yard gain. On the next play, lanky Davis, on a spinner around left end, raced over the goal line standing up. He place kicked the extra point.

Unable to gain, Union was forced to punt throughout the quarter. Late in the period, Curtis recovered Ostrosky's fumble. After Ursuline made a first down, the Union line buckled down and held the Ohioans. On the first play, Ostrosky dropped back to kick but for the second time Ursuline blocked the punt. Ursuline drew a 15-yard penalty. Fading way back, Hamilton tossed a pretty pass which McMalley snatched and ran to the Union 7 before being downed. Davis made a yard through center. On a cut back, Hamilton knifed the line for a gain which moved the oval to the two-yard mark at the end of the quarter.

After failing to make a gain, at the start of the second period, Davis tried the spinner around left end, and for the second time scored standing up. His placement kick was good, for Ursuline 14th point. Most of the play during the remaining minutes of the quarter took place in mid-field. Union found the Ursuline line powerful and gained very little yardage.

In the third quarter, Ursuline threatened again when Ostrosky's kick was blocked on the Union 11. Ursuline lost the pigskin on downs. At the start of the final quarter, Union recovered a free ball on the 35. A rifle like pass, Ostrosky to Pattison, placed the ball on the Ursuline 19. Three out of four Union passese were smeared. The fourth was good for only three yards. In the last minute of play Davis made a quick kick to the Union 16. After a gain of several yards, Ostrosky dropped back and threw a long pass. Hamilton intercepted, ran a few yards and lateralled to Dailey, who ran 24 yards for the third touchdown scored by Coach Woody Peebles' eleven. Joyce's placement kick was knocked down. Final score, Ursuline 20, Union 0.

Ursuline presented a light but fast team, filled with a variety of clever plays. Union made seven first downs and Ursuline two. Coach Dave Boyd's charges took to the air a total of 20 times. Seven of the aerial attempts were good. Ursuline made good one out of two passes.

For Union high, McGrew and Stickle played well; Hamilton, Davis and Dailey were Ursuline's outstanding gridders.

Church Golfers Enjoy Banquet

William I. Clark Named As President For 1937, Al Owens As Secretary

PRESBYTERIANS GIVEN TROPHY

New Castle church golf league officially closed its 1936 season last night at the Madison Avenue Christian church with a fine banquet. The dinner was in honor of the First Presbyterians, the champions this year. About 45 attended the dinner. William I. Clark was named as the 1937 president.

The dinner meeting was presided over by Sam Lewis, the retiring president. The program opened with the singing of "America" by the audience. Rev. Merrill Cadwell offered the invocation. "Red" Williams and Judy Sypher led the group in pep singing while the tables were being laden with delicious victuals by the women of the church. The dinner consisted of braised steak, mashed potatoes and green lima beans. The meal was topped off with apple pie.

Ministers Speak.

First on the program after the eating of the meal, was a clever reading, "At the Theatre", by Bob Parks. It was much enjoyed by the men.

President Sam Lewis, after a few brief remarks, introduced Rev. Milton E. Shearer, pastor of the church, who gave a fine talk thanking the men for coming to Mahoning church for the banquet and expressing fellowship and goodwill toward the church golf league.

Rev. Merrill Cadwell, assistant pastor at the First Christian church, was then called upon and gave a fine talk, saying that he enjoyed being present and that he thought the church golf league a fine thing. Rev. John J. McIlvaine of the First Presbyterian church was the next speaker and after a few fine remarks finished by saying that although he didn't play with the First Presbyterian golfing team this year they won the pennant anyhow.

Trophy Presented.

Charles "Bugs" Walther, pinch-hitting for Jack Gerson was next called upon and presented First Presbyterians with the handsome Gerson trophy cup emblematic of their 1936 championship. The cup was presented to Co-Captain John B. Waddington, who responded with a brief "thank you" speech.

Johnny Hodge, chairman of the banquet committee, next provided a lot of fun when he presented certain individuals in the league with "funny" gifts and had a humorous speech made up for each of them.

An appreciation of the work of W. I. Clark and Fulton Magill was voted by the men present.

Officers Elected.

The final act on the program was balloting for the new officers and it resulted in William I. Clark of the Highland U. P. church team being named as president. C. C. Headland was named vice-president. The new secretary will be Alfred Owens of the First Baptist church team. Credit for the success of the banquet goes to Johnny Hodge, Harley Keis and Jimmy Smith.

THE GUMPS—THE DECISION

OWNS MEMENTO OF WASHINGTON INAUGURATION

(International News Service)

EAST HARTFORD, Conn.—Said to be one of two such souvenirs in existence, Charles Levy owns a half hatchet cast in George Washington's day commemorating his inauguration as the first president of the infant United States.

Inscribed, "Washington inaugurated President of the US. April 30, 1789," the hatchet has a red blade outlined in gold. The bust of Washington is cream-colored with a blue ribbon for the wig.

Levy said the hatchet has been in his family for three generations and was termed genuine by antiquarians of the Buffalo, N. Y. museum where he formerly lived. The hatchet was sent to Levy's grandfather who lived in England at the time it was cast. It was brought here by his son.

State Motorists Pay Higher Tax

Levies In Pennsylvania In Year Average $52.33 Per Vehicle

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
Special Washington Correspondent
New Castle News

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 2.—The average motorist paid a higher tax in Pennsylvania last year than all but 16 of the 48 states, according to a study by American Petroleum Industries Committee.

The survey included Federal and state gasoline taxes, state registration and miscellaneous fees, and Federal excise taxes. Such levies in Pennsylvania last year averaged $52.33 for each motor vehicle registered. In the country as a whole, such levies averaged only $42.26 per vehicle, with 31 states having smaller per vehicle averages than the Keystone State.

The Pennsylvania average of $52.33 per vehicle was divided as follows: Federal gasoline tax, $6.56; state gasoline tax, $23.34; state registration and other fees, $18.41; and Federal excise taxes, $4.02.

Such taxes averaged $45.22 per vehicle in Ohio and $54.37 in West Virginia.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—The battered sparring stooges of the big football teams move into the background beginning tomorrow, and the main event boys start belting each other around for the duration of the season, with one national headliner on the day's program.

In this one Notre Dame meets Carnegie Tech, and right behind it are a half dozen other games involving teams that figure to be somewhere among the leaders before the season is over.

The Notre Dame-Carnegie game should be close. The score last year was 14 to 3 and there is no assurance that Notre Dame can improve on that.

"Buckeyes" Favored.

Ohio State should beat New York university in what also will be the opener for these two. The Buckeyes lost only to Notre Dame last season and shared the Big Ten title with Minnesota, while the New Yorkers were neither hot nor cold and figure to remain that way.

In other intersectional games Vanderbilt should take Chicago by a touchdown and Temple and Rice look like good bets over Mississippi and Duquesne, respectively. The latter two games will be played tonight.

The outstanding eastern attraction finds Yale opening against Cornell, which last week trampled little Alfred. Yale is picked.

Princeton Favored.

Princeton is picked over Williams in launching what may prove to be another great season. Harvard should take Amherst in a battle of mediocrity, Dartmouth can't miss against Vermont, Navy has little to fear in Davidson, and Washington and Lee will come east for its traditional and expected defeat against Army. Pitt over West Virginia and Penn over Lafayette is a good parlay.

Below the Mason and Dixon line, Auburn over Tulane Duke over South Carolina and Alabama over Clemson provide the day's choice selections. Others will find Kentucky whipping V. M. I. North Carolina trimming Tennessee and Louisiana continuing its march through the southwest against Texas.

Many Big Games.

The midwest offers Northwestern over Iowa Michigan State over Michigan, Marquette over Wisconsin, and Nebraska over Iowa State. Colorado and Oklahoma are a toss-up, with the former favored.

Swinging out to the coast you find one of the day's big games, California's Golden Bears being favored over their arch rival, St. Marys. Each has one won warm-up game and is ready for serious business. No matter how the game ends, it will be no great surprise.

Stock Market Rallies Today

Gains Run To More Than Two Points In Most Of Pivotal Leaders

By LESLIE GOULD

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Stocks rallied briskly today, gains running to as much as two points.

Chrysler was up two points and large fractional advances were made by General Motors and Nash, while Auburn climbed more than a point.

Gains of a point and more in Bethlehem, U. S. Steel and Youngstown Sheet & Tube were pared slightly in later dealings.

A few special issues scored wide gains, led by the General Gas & Electric Securities where the 8 per cent issue soared 15 points and the 6 per cent jumped eight.

American Telephone ran up 2½ points, Case gained two and Mack Trucks 1½ into new high ground for the year.

Leaders in the carrier department included N. Y. Central, Southern Pacific and Baltimore & Ohio.

Bonds were firm. Grains improved fractionally, but cotton turned reactionary.
